May Probe Purchase Of Winnipeg Club

OTTAWA (CP)—Recommendation that it be empowered to investigate a contract between the Navy Department and Winnipeg Winter Club was made in a report of the public accounts committee tabled this afternoon in the House of Commons.

New Air Commodore

Group Capt. R. J. Grant, senior aeronautical engineering officer of the Western Air Command, has been promoted to the rank of air commodore, it was announced today.

U-Boat Base Raid Highly Successful

STOCKHOLM (AP)—U.S. bombers in their most recent raid on Bordeaux immobilized a "high percentage" of Nazi submarines preying on Allied shipping in the Atlantic, a reliable informant said here today.

The informant, who could not be additionally identified, said bombs jammed the concrete and steel locks of the submarine pens, trapping for an indefinite period many U-boats which were being made ready for raids on the shipping lanes.

Dutch Tension High

LONDON (CP)—The Netherlands news agency, Aneta, said tonight tension in Holland approached a new climax today as the German authorities were reported moving to take drastic action against hundreds of thousands of inhabitants who have defied orders to register for labor conscription and ex-servicemen who have refused to report for re-employment.

Plan Relief Parley

LONDON (CP)—Hugh Dalton, president of the Board of Trade, said today a conference of Allied powers probably will be held next month in Washington to perfect an international organization for handling postwar relief in Europe.

Identify Fliers On Missing Plane

Married only six weeks to a Hamilton, Ont., girl who joined him in this district two days ago, P.O. Charles Sugden of Bradford, Yorkshire, is one of four men identified this afternoon by R.A.F. officials as missing in the twin-engine medium bomber which disappeared after taking off early Monday morning for a routine flight over the Pacific.

Other men aboard the missing aircraft are:
P.O. G. G. Douglas-Home, son of Lord Home of Berwickshire, Scotland; Sgt. A. S. Lynch, Bexley, N.S.W., and Sgt. E. R. Ritchie, Strathfield, N.S.W.

Search for the bomber is continuing.

Rubber Plans

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is in the rubber business to stay—in peace as well as war—according to present intentions, Munitions Minister Howe told the Commons this afternoon.

He said the artificial rubber plant, being erected at Sarnia, Ont., is owned and will be operated by the government.

Urge Jam Rationing

VANCOUVER (CP)—A resolution urging that jams, honey and marmalade be put on the rationed list to provide more equitable distribution will be sent to the authorities. The Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council adopted it after a delegate from the Retail Clerks' Union said miniature riots had occurred in some stores when meagre stocks were placed on sale.

Ruth Deans, the delegate, said that in one store a woman suffered cuts of her head during a scuffle with another housewife over a tin of jam.

PANTELLERIA IN RUINS—Bearing the scars of 20 days of relentless bombing by United Nations airmen, Pantelleria lies in ruins after surrendering to the Allies. This scene of destruction on the former Axis stronghold, which guarded the Sicilian Straits, greeted invading Allied ground forces as they swarmed onto the island within a few minutes of Pantelleria's surrender.

Air Raids Widespread

Berlin Gets Alarm Bombs Drop Near By

LONDON (CP)—The air ministry announced today that R.A.F. bombers ranged the continent from Denmark to France Tuesday night as the renewed Allied aerial offensive continued through its fifth successive night. The Germans indicated some of the raiders were near Berlin.

A DNB propaganda agency broadcast recorded by the Associated Press said the Reich capital which had an alert which lasted more than half an hour, but claimed "there were no particular events, no damage and no casualties reported." The report was not immediately confirmed here.

R.A.F. bombers ripped at enemy airfields, railway communications and water transport.

British sources said Berlin's alert probably was the result of R.A.F. reconnaissance flights in which some bombs may have been dropped.

The Berlin radio said Allied bombers also were over north Germany Tuesday night and "isolated bombs caused insignificant damage." There was no immediate confirmation from R.A.F. sources, however.

An official announcement reported that Whirlwinds had bombed an airfield near Dunkerque, shot up a tug and barges in the Bruges-Ghent canal, strafed barges in the Lys canal and machine gunned a freight train in the same area. A German Pöckel-Wulf fighter which attempted to intercept the raiders was reported damaged.

A lone Mosquito bomber, meanwhile, stabbed 500 miles across the North Sea to Denmark and shot down an enemy bomber as it was about to take off from an airfield near Aalborg.

Boston bombers were reported to have attacked a factory and train at a loading platform near Nantes in northern France, and Beaufighters damaged three locomotives in Brittany. A Typhoon was reported to have bombed and cannoned a torpedo boat off Ostend.

R.A.F. heavy bombers, which had been out in force over Germany for the last four nights, apparently were given a rest.

A few German night raiders, meanwhile, were reported to have attacked coastal districts in southeast England. A communiqué, however, said they caused few casualties and little damage.

Rumania Puts Out Feelers for Peace

ANKARA (AP)—Semi-diplomatic sources here said today that Rumania, an Axis satellite, had extended peace feelers to learn how her withdrawal from the war would be received by the Allies.

Allied authorities in Turkey were said to have been approached through the medium of a neutral diplomat.

The purported peace feeler was said to have been accompanied by an intimation the Rumanians would leave the Nazis flat at the start of the 1943 campaign in Soviet Russia if they were permitted to retain at least parts of Bessarabia and Bukovina, claimed by Russia.

The war-weary Rumanians were believed hopeful also of retaining Transylvania if they should capitulate before the Hungarians do so, it was said. These sources said it was believed here the Rumanian offer is under serious consideration in London, Washington and Moscow. There was no confirmation of the report from Allied sources.

Saboteurs Executed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A hint that other enemy agents besides the six submarine-borne saboteurs who were electrocuted here last August have been executed by the government since the U.S. entered the war was given by the House of Representatives appropriations committee today in printed hearings on a War Agencies Supply Bill.

It came during testimony of Byron Price, director of the office of censorship.

Judgment Reserved On Boot Appeal

By NORMAN MACLEOD

OTTAWA—Mr. Justice Taschereau of the Supreme Court of Canada reserved judgment, after argument before him late Tuesday, in the case of three Victoria merchants, J. G. Simpson, G. Hall and J. A. Walsh, and former Provincial Police quartermaster, L. J. Simmons. They had been found guilty and sentenced to penitentiary for conspiring to defraud the provincial government.

The application for leave to appeal this conviction to the Supreme Court was made and argued by Stuart Henderson. It was opposed by Col. Eric Pepler, K.C., for the Attorney-General of British Columbia.

Should the application be granted, the actual appeal might proceed at the present sitting, if parties are ready to go on. Otherwise, it was understood, the hearing would be postponed until October.

Another Nazi 'Plant'

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The pro-Nazi Swedish newspaper Allehanda reported today that high German officers and Russian representatives, perhaps ranking diplomats, had met recently at a boarding house "somewhere in Sweden" to discuss peace negotiations, but the conference failed.

There was no confirmation of the report in any quarter, and competent observers expressed the belief the story might be a Nazi "propaganda plant" in an effort to breach United Nations unity. There have been previous groundless reports here of Russian-German "peace talks."

P.O. Alan Mayhew Missing in India

P.O. Alan Mayhew, son of R. W. Mayhew, M.P., and Mrs. Mayhew, is reported missing in India, according to a telegram received from R.C.A.F. headquarters at Ottawa by his wife, who resides at 2440 Beach Drive.

P.O. Mayhew won his wings and a commission last year and after a term of duty on the east coast was sent overseas. A short time ago it was reported that he was piloting flying boats out of Ceylon.

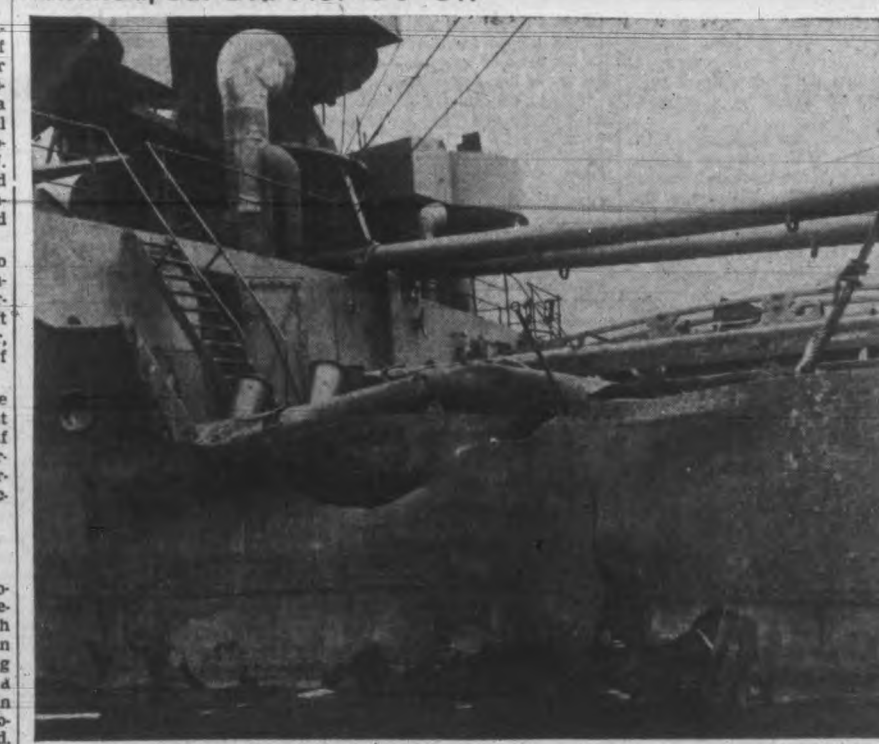

P.O. Mayhew is widely known in Victoria. He attended St. Michael's, Oak Bay High School and Victoria College and was graduated from University of British Columbia. He then joined the staff of the Sidney Roofing and Paper Co., of which he is vice-president. As a member of the Gyro Club he took an active part in its program.

Class Prejudice Blamed for Riots

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said today she thought the riot-suit fights in Los Angeles could be traced to what she called long-standing discrimination against Mexicans in that part of the country.

The President's wife told a press conference race problems are growing in the United States and all over the world, and "we must just begin to face it."

Rammed, But Did Not Go Off

Cases of TNT are visible through the hole on the water line of this United Nations freighter. The ship was traveling in convoy when one of the ships in line got out of control. In the manoeuvres which resulted as the other ships sought to avoid collision, this vessel was rammed. For the men standing on deck, waiting for the cargo under their feet to detonate, it was a blood-chilling minute. "But," the captain said, "we hadn't long to think about it. The ship was damaged and we had to go to work. When we found she was not going to sink, we got straightened out and headed for port."

Axis Fears Next Attack Coming On Crete, Sicily

King In North Africa; Attack May Follow Visit

By RELMAN MORIN

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP)—The King has been in north Africa since last Saturday, visiting the scenes of the Allies' greatest victory and talking with the soldiers and sailors who won it.

The news was held an official secret until today.

His inspection tour, crowded into a few days, took His Majesty into a number of different British and U.S. military establishments, aboard warships, through convalescent camps—even to a stretch of beach where more than 3,000 troops were having a Sunday swim.

That was an unforgettable moment. The men caught sight of the King standing on the veranda of a small villa for officers, and instantly came racing down the beach from all directions, resembling nothing so much as a horde of semi-nude natives on the warpath. The word reached even those in the water. There were no stoppages to time them, but undoubtedly every swimming record from 100 yards up to a half-mile was broken in the rush.

The King walked down into the centre of the crowd and stood there talking with those nearest him. Then they sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

There were many French civilians present. They cried "Vive le Roi!" Two old Frenchmen looked at each other and one said: "It's been a long time since I have said those words."

(Ralph Howard, NBC reporter in north Africa, broadcast that the King arrived in north Africa Saturday by air and that he "was favorably impressed with the review and exhibition of commando tactics staged in his honor by the 5th American Company."

(After the exhibition, Howard said, the King visited an American military cemetery at Oran, overlooking the Mediterranean, and paid his respects to U.S. soldiers who had fallen in battle.)

During his inspections of British and American troops, His Majesty invested Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied commander, with the insignia of a Knight Grand Cross, Order of the Bath.

Unexpected News For British People

LONDON (CP)—Britons found the news of the King's visit to north Africa a surprise for there had been no indication His Majesty was out of the country.

He left Windsor Castle by motor car and made the trip to north Africa in a plane piloted by his personal pilot, Capt. F. H. Elden, who has flown him many thousands of miles, mostly in the United Kingdom.

A Reuters news agency dispatch from Algiers said the King traveled in the same four-motored plane Prime Minister Churchill used about two weeks ago in returning from Africa to England. The plane, Reuters said, reached the air field in Africa at 8 a.m.

Only a few mechanics were on the field and they had the surprise of their lives when the King, wearing a Field Marshal's uniform, stepped from the plane. Reuters quoted His Majesty as saying he had a fine trip.

After talking with British and U.S. mechanics, who gathered around him, the King lit a cigarette and set out across the field with Sir Alexander Hardinge, his private secretary. He stopped on the way to talk with pilots of the many planes parked near the runway.

Accompanying the King on his secrecy-shrouded trip—his longest overseas journey since his memorable tour of Canada just before the war began—were Britain's state secretaries of air and war, Sir Archibald Sinclair and Sir James Grigg.

No details of the trip—not even the mode of travel—were disclosed in the brief BBC bulletin which announced the tour. It merely stated: "The King, who is accompanied by secretaries of state for air and war, is visiting the British 1st and 8th Armies, the Royal Navy and the Royal Air Force in north Africa."

Five counsellors of state, including the Queen, were named to reign over Britain during the King's absence.

Appointed by the King before his departure, in addition to the Queen, were the Duke of Gloucester, his younger brother; the Princess Royal, his sister; the Duchess of Fife, his aunt; and the Countess of Southesk, his cousin.

The Queen and her fellow counsellors are the four next in succession to the throne, excluding minors. Princess Elizabeth is only 17.

The Queen's standard flew this morning from Buckingham Palace, showing she was in residence alone.

The King's tour coincided with both Axis and Allied reports that have north Africa spotted as the base for "invasion" operations against Hitler's Europe.

Even as word of the King's arrival became known, Axis propaganda and news sources were claiming that a great Allied fleet was massing along the African coast, possibly for an invasion thrust aimed at Sicily or the mainland of southern Europe.

Despite its unexpectedness, this visit by the King to an active war theatre set no precedent. In the early part of 1940 he visited British troops in France and saw part of the Maginot line, making the journey across the Channel in a Royal Navy destroyer.

Russian Planes Pound Nazi Tanks On Orel Front

LONDON (CP)—Russian planes raided a German tank concentration near Sevsk, in the vital Orel sector of the Soviet front Tuesday night in a continuation of several days of sharp activity in that area, the Russian midday communiqué said today.

Direct hits were registered on Nazi tanks and four German planes were brought down in the aerial combats which followed. Four German planes likewise were brought down in sharp aerial action northwest of Mtsensk, also in the Orel sector, said the communiqué, which was broadcast from Moscow and recorded by the Soviet monitor here.

Russian scouts were active in the Sevsk area, taking prisoners and killing several scores of Germans.

The Germans counterattacked strongly near Mtsensk Tuesday, said the Russian midday communiqué, but withdrew at sundown when the Russians beat off their attempts for the second day to retake four settlements now held by Soviet forces. The Russians said the Germans left 400 dead and a number of destroyed tanks when they withdrew.

Events Show Allies Prepare Offensive

NEW YORK (AP)—Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo, addressing an extraordinary session of the Japanese Diet today, said the war situation is becoming "increasingly tense," and that there are increasing signs of an impending Anglo-American offensive on a large scale, the Tokyo radio reported.

The Premier assured the Diet, however, that new blows being developed by the Allies "are things which Japan naturally has foreseen."

The Premier did not refer to recent Japanese defeats on Attu Island in the Aleutians and in central China, but asserted Japanese troops were carrying out "grand scale" operations in China, along the Burma-India frontier and in the Pacific.

The Diet, which has no voice in the formulation of Japanese policy and is little more than a rubber stamp for legislation decided on by Tojo and his military advisers, was not permitted to question the Premier concerning his report on the war.

Blows From East West to Coincide Russians Report

By ERNEST AGNEW

LONDON (AP)—A barrage of Axis allegations of Allied "intrigues" designed to bring Turkey into the war soon and of constantly growing Allied naval forces in the central Mediterranean highlighted enemy nervousness today at the possibility that the King's visit to troops in north Africa was a prelude to large-scale offensives.

Unofficial military commentators here conjectured the Allies might attempt the simultaneous capture of Sicily from north Africa and Crete from the Middle East before invading the European mainland.

These observers, who cannot be identified, said the renewed bombing offensive against Sicily strongly pointed to that island as one of the first on the Allied invasion schedule, and that the reported sealing of the border between Syria and Turkey might be a precaution to cover the secrecy of military movements.

Axis People Told Armies Prepared

While both the Rome and Berlin radios continued to harp on reports of Allied preparations, both renewed assurances to Italians and Germans that Axis armed forces were ready and calmly awaiting the test.

Both Crete and Sicily would be difficult to take, commentators here emphasized, and Cairo dispatches, quoting military quarters there, said an attack on Sicily might take two or three months.

The Berlin radio, commenting on reports Britain had closed the Syrian-Turkish border, asserted the frontier was not actually closed and that the Istanbul-Bagdad train was running as usual.

"All that has been done is that frontier control has been made more strict," with particular attention to persons bearing Syrian or Iraqi visas, the radio said.

Turkey Continues Strict Vigilance

In an interview in Ankara Tuesday night with Frank J. O'Brien of the Associated Press, Premier Saracoglu gave no light on the Syrian border question but, discussing his own country's position in the international picture, he left the impression Turkey is playing an important role in the development of Balkan affairs. He said Turkey would continue the strictest vigilance toward neutrality.

(Later in a speech to the national assembly, broadcast by the Ankara radio, Saracoglu declared Turkey will assert all its strength to do away with war after this one is finished. "We feel such affinity with some of the declarations made by United Nations statesmen that we make them our own," he declared.)

A broadcast by the Leningrad radio, recorded here by the ministry of information, raised the possibility meanwhile that Allied strategy may be to strike at Axis Europe from several directions at once.

"There can be no doubt that the blow against Hitlerite Germany from the west will coincide with a mighty crushing blow of the Red Army from the east," the Leningrad report said.

Berlin nervously reminded Germans in a broadcast reported by Reuters news agency that the Russians were massing south of Moscow. The Nazis also were reported realigning their top generals at strategic points around the rim of the continent.

Negro Lynched

MARIANNA, Fla. (AP)—Cellos Harrison, 31-year-old negro, charged with killing a white man, was taken from the Jackson County jail today by four masked men and apparently clubbed to death. He had been convicted of killing a filling station operator in a robbery attempt in 1940.

'Constitutional' Says C.C.F. Leader

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation "is a constitutional organization, determined to utilize democratic policies and institutions to progressively move towards social ownership of resources and services necessary to the security of all the people," Harold Winch, leader of the Opposition, said today in a statement.

Mr. Winch described as "a despicable endeavor to mislead the people as to the purposes and objectives of the C.C.F." a joint statement issued at Victoria Tuesday by Premier Hart and Attorney-General Maitland regarding the C.C.F. victory in the Revelstoke provincial by-election Monday.

Mr. Hart and Mr. Maitland, leaders of the Coalition government, said in the statement the Revelstoke vote "supported advocates of state control" and declared C.C.F. policies "can only lead to a totalitarian state, and those who believe in maintaining our institutions must now be alive to the danger with which they are faced."

9,000 Still Idle

Canadian Press Labor strife in Canada today centred in the industrial east, with 7,000 workers in three Quebec area shipyards continuing their strike for wage adjustments and a closed shop contract and nearly 2,000 others idle in Hamilton and Galt in Ontario.

On the Pacific coast, the slow down involving 1,300 drydock employees at Prince Rupert, came to an end Tuesday night pending further negotiations on demands of the Boilermakers' and Iron Shipbuilders' Union (C.C.L.) for an improvement in food at the shipyard commissary.

At Kitchener, 800 members of the United Rubber Workers of America (C.I.O.) returned to work, ending a "conference" they had started a week ago Monday to protest refusal of the management of the Merchants Rubber Company to grant wage adjustments. Union officials said the decision to return to work was reached Tuesday night after the company had agreed to grant wage increases.

More than 300 employees of the Peck rolling mills in Montreal went back to work, agreeing to investigation of their demands for a five-cent-an-hour wage increase plus full cost-of-living bonus by the Quebec Regional War Labor Board. The employees are members of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.).

Russians Calm As Battle Test With Nazis Nears

The correspondent who wrote the following story on how Russia's people face the impending summer campaign has just returned to the United States after nearly two years as an Associated Press representative in Moscow.

By EDDY GILMORE
NEW YORK (AP)—With a large part of the German army camped just beyond Moscow's front yard and ready to strike if you believe in signs, you'd think the people of the old city would be getting excited as the tension tightens.

Well, they aren't. For weeks the citizens of Moscow and the land between Moscow and such Russian cities as Bryansk, Orel, Svesk, Kursk, Smolensk and Velikie Lukh have known that Hitler has turned into these sectors many trains bearing troops.

There is much speculation that Hitler may try to break through southwest of Moscow, drive eastward, then turn northward and try to get behind the capital.

Only this is known—Hitler appears to have enough material and men on this front to seek to accomplish such a feat.

MOVEMENTS OBSERVED
The open manner in which Hitler is building up the central front worries some of the thinkers. There's a possibility of a trick. He may also be building up that strong sector of the Taggerog Line.

If Hitler goes for the Caucasus again he has to have Rostov, and Taggerog isn't far away. If he wants the Donets Basin back, Taggerog would be a place to strike from.

Whatever the Germans do, the Germans will meet a better, stronger, more powerfully armed and commanded Red army this summer than in the past two summers.

You can be assured Premier Stalin has been up to something too. I have just got to the United States from Moscow and because of the obvious fact of military secrecy I can only say that from what I've seen—and frankly, it hasn't been a lot—Stalin has been up to a considerable something.

Pioneer Cadboro Bay Resident Dies at 96

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Simpkins, a native of Aston Tirrold, England, who came to Victoria with her husband in 1887, died at her home 2420 Cadboro Bay Road, Tuesday, in her 97th year.
She had lived for the past 50 years at her Cadboro Bay home and took a keen interest in poultry and gardening. She was occupied in selling the pear crop from a large fruit tree in her garden just a few days before her death.

Surviving are her only daughter, Mrs. C. E. Heard of Vancouver, who is at present in Victoria. Generalissimo's Wife Addresses Houses

Canadians' Share In War Praised By Madame Chiang

MME. CHIANG KAI-SHEK ON WAY TO SPEAK TO CANADIAN PARLIAMENT—Wife of China's generalissimo smilingly receives a bouquet from war worker Rose Tong. China's first lady was cheered roundly as she went through war plants from New York to Ottawa.

OTTAWA (CP)—Madame Chiang Kai-shek said today in an address to the Canadian Houses of Parliament that if Japan conquered China, it would lead to "the greatest cataclysmic disaster civilization has yet to face."

Speaking in the Commons chamber, the wife of China's Generalissimo, said her country for six years has hung like a millstone around the neck of the Japanese military. But China's will to resist with only inadequate fighting material "must not be strained beyond human endurance."

Mme. Chiang outlined briefly her hopes for the postwar world. She described democracy as "disciplined self-rule" in contrast with the Fascist view that "a preponderance of force constitutes all legal requirements and justification of a government."

The speech was broadcast by the CBC.

Until recently the Chinese army had never had the sort of consistent air protection necessary for even small-scale offensives, she said.

"The fact that our army with the help of a few planes in the combined American and Chinese air forces was able to rout the enemy in the last upriver Yangtze invasion proved conclusively that comparatively much can be done with comparatively little."

DANGER NOT PAST

"The danger to China and to the United Nations, however, is not past; the magnificent will to resist of the Chinese people and army, implemented only by inadequate fighting material, must not be strained beyond human endurance...."

NEW BASIS

Turning to world prospects after the war, she said that merely policing the world to prevent further strife would be insufficient. Something fundamental and positive was needed as well.

Mme. Chiang urged that the United Nations exercise foresight and understanding "so that the vanquished will be treated as neighbors and as fellow-beings, while punishment should be limited only to the perpetrators of this war."

"Indeed, from Canada, through your welding successfully two peoples into one strong and harmonious nation, the world has much to learn in universal brotherhood. The touchstone of human greatness lies in co-operation and collaboration, the antitheses of domination and exploitation of one people by another."

Some skeptics regarded all postwar world collaboration with the eyes of cynics. But, she said, "if we but possess the pertinacity to bring it into being, what was yesterday regarded as the impossible becomes today the reality."

COMMON EFFORT

Canada's contribution to the common cause, like China's, had not been of a spectacular nature. But, she added, "it is not the occasional brilliant strikes which determine victory; it is the steadfast performance of preconceived plans in strategy backed by the willingness to contribute ungrudgingly to the common effort that will tip the scales."

She added: "The accumulated heroism of your comrades, the large amount of foodstuffs and munitions which your country has sent to England, the manner in which you have utilized your air bases for Allied effort, and the fact that per capita Canada has produced more for the war effort than any other member of the United Nations are indicative of Canada's will to fight to victory."

Contrasting the democratic and Axis forms of government, Mme. Chiang said democracy was like beautiful architecture in which each part of the tracery and sculpture "claims a permanent place on its own merit and then surrenders it to the entire composition, thereby enriching the whole and relieving it from the tameness of mere qualitative perfection."

BARBARIC DICTATORSHIP

Germany had become "an inhuman dictatorship," said Mme. Chiang, apparently using the adjective in its archaic meaning of gigantic or cruel. The Fascist powers had "dragged and deluded the people into a belief of superstition in the infallibility of their leadership. They have refused the people the right to challenge the fallibility of men holding power in the government."

The United Nations, on the other hand, permitted divergent views the right of discussion "so that all ideas in the deepest recesses and innermost corners of the human mind are re-examined and weighed."

APPLAUSE ON ARRIVAL

Loud applause went up as Mme. Chiang, dressed in a long black dress, with black hat, arrived at the buildings. She was greeted by Prime Minister King at the main entrance after she passed through an escort of Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The Prime Minister escorted her down the Hall of Fame to the Commons chamber, accompanied by Speaker J. A. Glen of the Commons, Speaker Thomas V. H. King, government leader in the Upper House, Mme. Chiang's aides and attendants followed.

Crowds—mostly women but with a fair sprinkling of men—filled the galleries and corridors. The ministers of foreign powers and their wives had special places in the gallery.

Loud speakers carried her speech to the thousands unable to enter the building. Speaker Glen, welcoming Mme.

Chiang in the House, said she was the first woman, not a member of Parliament, to address Parliament from the floor of the House.

Speaker Glen asked the Prime Minister to introduce the visitor. Mme. Chiang is one of the great personages of the world, Mr. King said, and he expressed "the sincere welcome of the government, the Parliament and the people of Canada."

The Prime Minister asked her to take to her husband an expression of the high regard Canadians held for him and to assure him that Canada joins China in putting forth the utmost efforts to destroy the forces of evil.

Speaker Glen brought the meeting to a close by leading in the singing of God Save the King and then calling for three cheers for Mme. Chiang.

She left the chamber accompanied by Mr. King and returned to Government House.

Today's War Analysis

By MAX HILL

Associated Press War Analyst
At least one member of the newly-formed French Committee of National Liberation has had the common sense to strip the organization of its political implications and get down to what he thinks is the basic purpose—a united France.

It is unfortunate that the chief protagonists, Gen. de Gaulle and Gen. Giraud, cannot end their cautious sparring for positions, since so much is at stake for all of us.

"The question as to whether one is a Giraudist or a De Gaulle is not important," Henri Bonnet, who is minister of information in the committee, said in an interview. "We have been appointed as a unit for France, and we will serve as such."

M. Bonnet is now en route to Algiers, but it remains to be seen what effect his reasonable attitude will have on the two men whose co-operation is so necessary for a successful committee.

The current impasse is made more complicated by the comparative financial positions of De Gaulle and Giraud.

On the one hand, Gen. de Gaulle gets nearly all of his funds from Britain.

On the other hand, Giraud not only has money, but he also has supplies, such as oil and peanuts and wine and plenty of mutton, to trade with the United Nations for the necessary weapons of war. Besides, he has sent a substantial sum of money in gold to the United States.

It must be said for De Gaulle, whatever his attitude in the present situation may be, that he has worked and fought hard for France from the day she became a puppet of the Nazis. This may not justify, however, his determination to eliminate all Frenchmen who ever had any contact with Vichy.

Regardless of what turn the joint committee squabble takes, it will be Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower who will have the final say—if he so wishes. Africa will remain the province of the commanding general of the United

Kiwanians Applaud Story Of Naval Heroism

From the lips of one who had been there and seen the perils and heroism of the men who man the Atlantic and Mediterranean convoys was described before a rapt audience of members of the Kiwanis Club at the Empress Tuesday noon.

The speaker was Lieut. William A. B. Garrard, M.B.E., R.C. N.V.R., who has returned to Victoria after two years on active duty, during which he lost his left foot in the torpedoing of his ship, the Canadian corvette Weyburn, on the way from Gibraltar to England.

Describing the work of the merchant navy, and the Royal Navy and the Royal Canadian Navy as he witnessed it on Atlantic convoy duty, and later on a tour of duty in the Mediterranean, Lieut. Garrard kept his audience enthralled and won from them at the conclusion of his address prolonged applause that was partly a tribute to his ability as a speaker and partly an expression of appreciation for the work done by himself and men like himself in the navy.

BITTERLY COLD

Lieut. Garrard described first of all work in connection with conveying across the Atlantic, on which he spent more than a year. "The route is bitterly cold, with gales throughout most of the year, and when you get out of the cold portion you run into the submarines," he said. "There is aerial protection for the first three days, then a blank spot, and it is in this blank spot that the submarines operate for three or four days."

He described how they come in at night, when, under cover of darkness they can surface and make faster get-aways, and let drive at the convoy of 30 or 40 ships, sinking possibly two or three.

"The ships have orders not to alter their courses under any circumstances, so none stop to pick up survivors, one lone ship being detailed for that purpose, after the rest of the convoy gets away and it completes anti-submarine action."

He said that this takes possibly an hour or two, and that two hours is practically the limit any man can live in the 40-degree waters of the Atlantic in winter time.

"Only about 20 per cent of those picked up are alive after two hours in the water," he said.

SIGN ON AGAIN

He described how those who survive, in spite of the perils, sign on for another trip immediately on being landed.

Lieut. Garrard said that his ship was all prepared to go to Murmansk, an even more unhealthy route, when it suddenly found itself ordered to the Mediterranean.

"Our run was to be from Gibraltar to a place about 800 miles east, and for the first half of the trip it seemed very pleasant," he said. "However the first night after we passed Algiers, the torpedo bombers started coming in at dusk—groups of from four and five to 25, giant Junkers and Heinkels, each equipped with two torpedoes that came skimming 12 or 14 feet over the water, in unwavering lines."

Lieut. Garrard said that this was not so bad, however, because in the excitement of gunning for them the men forgot the danger they were in.

"But it was the dive bombers which came in after the torpedo bombers and kept up their attacks all night long that were nerve-wracking," he said.

He said it was surprising, though, in spite of the amount of enemy attacks, how little damage they did, the official count of shipping losses for the Africa campaign being 3 per cent. Lieut. Garrard said that while Nations armies for a long time to come, and the French can't move without consulting him first.

in port their ship was subject to the incessant bombing attacks carried on by the enemy against the harbor and docks, so that they were glad to leave after two or three days.

He told how his ship had completed six months of this work when the somewhat happy news came through that it was being taken off this convoy duty and sent back to England.

"It was while en route, from Gibraltar to England that we got it," said Lieut. Garrard, describing the sinking of his ship by a torpedo that was evidently, he said, "intended for a larger prize than our 190-foot vessel."

He described the rescue work carried out by a British destroyer and told of the accident which almost sunk the destroyer as well.

"We carried 80 depth charges of more than 300 pounds each," said Lieut. Garrard. "They were always set at 'safe' so that they could not go off if we ran into trouble, but apparently their mechanism was disturbed by the explosion of the torpedo, so that as our ship sank to the 50-foot level there was a terrific detonation. The depth charges had apparently gone off."

DOCTOR A HERO

Thirty-five seamen standing along the rail on the rescue ship had their legs broken, and the doctor who was attending Lieut. Garrard had both his legs broken. It was this explosion which finally accounted for the life of the corvette's captain, Lieut. Commander Golby of Victoria.

Lieut. Garrard described how the doctor of the destroyer, with both legs broken, was carried by four men around the ship to attend the 85 casualties which the ship then carried as a result of the two disasters.

Paying tribute to what he described as "the magnificent work of the Royal Navy," Lieut. Garrard said that nothing could ever be told to fully describe the services of this branch of the fighting forces.

Thanking the speaker for his address, Col. Brooke-Stephenson said: "When we hear of strikes and lockouts in Canada we wonder if something could not be done to bring to the minds of the men responsible some glimpse of what you have told us today."

He said, "We thank God for men like you. We thank you for what you've told us and for what you've done."

No Aluminum Trust Probe Munitions Minister Says

OTTAWA (CP)—From discussion of international business associations which some members condemned, the House of Commons today turned to thoughts of international friendship as a pause was made in parliamentary labors to hear an address to the House and Senate by Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the Chinese Generalissimo.

As on Monday, discussion of aluminum interests, prices for their product and their part in waterpower developments took much of the House's time Tuesday.

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, said the government should conduct an inquiry into the aluminum interests' operations, but Munitions Minister Howe said they had made a great contribution to the war effort and he did not favor staging an investigation at this time.

J. W. Noseworthy, C.C.F. South York, Ont., said the aluminum interests had sought a waterpower monopoly and he traced association of Hon. Leighton McCarthy, Canadian minister to the United States, with aluminum company activities in the early 20's.

Mr. Howe said the water resources which generated hydro-electric power did not involve any depletion of Canadian resources.

REASONABLE PROFIT

The gross and net profits of the company were reasonable in proportion to the invested capital. Unless it was found there had been an excess profit there was no point in the munitions department seeking to re-negotiate a contract. The aluminum price was one of the few prices reduced in war years.

Aluminum Limited, the parent company, was subject to the laws of Canada, and it was the owner of all the plants producing aluminum for the United Nations outside the United States, and the whole position apart from the United States could be dealt with in Canada.

The ownership of properties in other countries did not create an international cartel.

"I may be entirely erroneous, but my judgment is that it is better to obtain aluminum to build airplanes to win the war—I think it would be utter madness to start another battle between the government of Canada and the sources of aluminum," said Mr. Howe.

NO TIME FOR PROBE

"I do not think this is the time for that sort of investigation," he said.

Mr. Noseworthy said Mr. McCarthy was one of the three men who were dominant down through the years in connection with aluminum control of waterpower.

The Aluminum Co. of America had retained a controlling interest in the Frontier Corporation which watched every move made by the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission. The Frontier Corporation had paid fees to Mr. McCarthy for work done in 1921, 1922 and 1923, including special interviews with members of the Canadian government.

Angus MacInnis, Vancouver East, said sufficient evidence had been placed on the record in regard to aluminum to show the natural resources of Canada had been given away by those supposed to act as trustees of the people's property. The government should have no compunction about returning that property to its rightful owners.

BOEING DISCUSSION

In a continued discussion of munitions department estimates, Mr. MacInnis said a recent stoppage of work at the Boeing aircraft plant at Vancouver was unjustifiable and due to the actions of Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, and his director of aircraft production (Ralph Bell).

The shutdown was a lockout, not a strike. The company refused a rest period although at the Canadian Pacific Airlines plant nearby the employees had a rest period.

Mr. Howe interrupted to say Canadian Pacific took over part of the work done by Boeing and undertook to maintain a labor agreement then in effect. It had violated the agreement.

Mr. MacInnis clashed with Labor Minister Mitchell when Mr. Mitchell accused the Vancouver member of "cutting a sharp corner" and asked if Mr. MacInnis could justify a 6-hour 20-minute working day in wartime.

Mr. MacInnis said he was not justifying anything, but took it Mr. Mitchell was opposed to the agreement now in effect at the Boeing plant.

Canada to Operate Speedy Atlantic Air Service

OTTAWA (CP)—Plans are nearing completion for inauguration of a Canadian-operated trans-Atlantic air service to provide speedy travel to and from Britain for high Canadian officials and improve mail service to the Canadian troops overseas. It was learned today.

A formal statement on this proposed development is expected some time soon.

There have been hints in the past that some such move was in prospect. After his return from a trip to Britain, Postmaster-General Mulock said several months ago that study was being given to a plan of this nature.

It was announced officially some time ago that several Trans-Canada Airlines crews were taking trans-Atlantic flight training with the R.A.F. transport command and that a T.C.A. transport plane was operating experimentally in eastern Canada, preparatory to making test flights across the Atlantic.

Officials said at that time that one problem was the provision of suitable aircraft.

Illegal Marketing Of Corn In U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—Truck drivers, roaming the United States Midwest in an unprecedented hunt for corn, are buying the yellow grain at higher than ceiling prices and selling it profitably to farmers who need it to feed livestock, members of leading grain firms here say.

The existence of an illegal market in corn, grain men say, is common knowledge among the trade. Major markets are not getting the corn they need. The amount of the maize in principal United States marketing centres at the start of this week was pitifully small as compared with last year.

Gallup Poll

Public Would Fine War Plant Absentees

TORONTO—Men and women in war industries who remain away from their work without a good reason can expect little sympathy from the Court of Public Opinion.

Of every 10 adults in Canada, six would be in favor of fining such absentees in addition to losing their pay, three would oppose fining them, and one would be undecided.

These are the conclusions from a nation-wide survey by the Gallup Poll, in the course of which this question was put to a representative cross-section of Canadians.

"Do you think that workers in war industries who stay away from their work without a good reason should be fined in addition to losing their pay?"

Here's the way the Canadian public as a whole thinks about this: Would fine 58 per cent, would not fine 33 per cent, undecided 9 per cent.

Penalizing absentees by way of a fine is not without precedent, as in the case of the striking bituminous coal miners in United States, who were assessed a fine of $1 a day by U.S. Secretary of the Interior, Harold L. Ickes. Quebec appears to be the only area in Canada where public opinion is not in favor of fining absentees, and in that province there is, among those with an opinion, a slight majority who feel that absentees should not be fined. In the agricultural west, however, more than 7 out of every 10 persons would penalize the stay-at-homes.

As is natural, Canadian farmers are more inclined to be stern with industrial absentees than the people living in the larger communities, or those in other occupations. However, labor itself would give a majority vote for the fine:

	Fine	No Fine	Undecided
Farmer	70	23	7
Business and Professional	53	38	9
White Collar	57	34	9
Labor	55	36	9

As an experiment, a poll was conducted with a different cross-section of Canadians, with a question which deliberately introduced a comparison between civilian and military discipline. This question was as follows:

"Do you think that a worker in a war industry who stays away from work without good reason should be punished as severely as a soldier who is absent without leave?"

The introduction of this comparison into the question had the effect of noticeably increasing the feeling that absentee war workers should be punished, in spite of the fact that the fate of a soldier who is absent without leave is usually a grimmer one than that of merely paying a fine. In the table below, the answer received to the "fine" question are compared with the answers received to the "army fine" question:

	Fine	Army Discipline
Yes	58	58
No	33	33
Undecided	9	9

Those who opposed punishing absentees in any way, usually commented that such a move would be "too dictatorial." Others in this group thought that loss of a day's pay was sufficient punishment in itself, and that further losses would not be fair to the children.

NOT SEEN THE "THING?"

I find myself so much disagreeing with Bruce Hutchison that I expect to approve of the "thing" on Pandora Avenue, if and when I see it. Speaking of the future League of Nations, he says: "This time we had better understand that we are playing for keeps and what the whole project involves. And we had better understand that this is not an ideological problem, for the Russians, who are Communists, are just as likely to hesitate in this business as the Americans, who are capitalists."

What really matters is that it is first and foremost an ideological problem, the Soviet Union now, as always, being against the aggressor nations. Consequence: Sidney, B.C.

quently the Russians will put no obstacle in the way of peace enforcement by an international police force if the idea is to maintain a just peace.

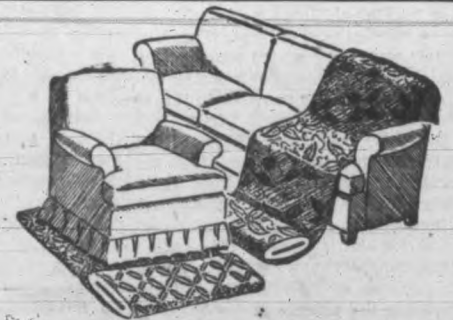

We will, of course, have to re-define our idea of justice, and to be acceptable it cannot be based on expediency. If the leaders of democracy have shown even a sign of a desire to bring justice to their own people, the sign has passed me by. Rather the desire has been to placate the common people by institution of social security paid for by exploitation of natural resources of subject peoples or both. "Old legends like pity and honor, or assistance to those in distress, must go by the board for the pickings we may yet acquire from the mess."

We may think we will be able to handle things to our advantage—indeed we must, advantage being what we believe in—in which case let us not attempt to blame Russia if Russia does the same from a selfish viewpoint.

As John Langdon Davis says, "Man can make himself in whatever image he likes by choosing the environment which will call forth that image." Our image is a graven image. All our dealings, so far as I can see, and most of our thoughts, are concerned with getting what we can for as little as we can.

The Times quotes officials of TCA that passengers can be carried to Vancouver and return for $5.50 via Pat Bay, and our vaunted TCA, I use the word vaunted advisedly.

If any public service is not to serve the public to its full capacity we had better find out why. Instead of which some Sidney business men are requesting somebody or something to allow us to use our own property: F. A. THORNLEY, Sidney, B.C.

Your Income Tax....

MINISTER OF NATIONAL REVENUE CANADA

FELLOW CANADIAN

I would like to remind the two million taxpayers of Canada of their obligation to file a 1942 Income Tax Return before the 30th of June.

This year, the forms have been simplified so that they can be completed with a minimum of time and effort.

The Income Tax dollars that Canadians pay are necessary in our present struggle. They are an investment in our future peace and security. They are fighting dollars.Victory dollars.

Income Tax is fair to all, as each person is taxed in accordance with his ability to pay.

There is no easy way to win a war. Almost half the costs of this war must be paid by taxes. I know that the Income Tax is not a pleasant burden, but I also know that to win the war, Canadians are willing to fulfill their obligations....to pay the price and to shoulder their responsibilities with the same unshakable spirit as shown by those who have gone from our shores to fight.

Change The Law

VICTORIANS WILL APPROVE THE

City Council's request to the Board of Transport Commissioners that it reconsider its decision in respect of air travel by Trans-Canada Airlines between this city and Vancouver. The resolution passed at Monday afternoon's meeting of the aldermanic board argues that restriction of the service recently opened by TCA to air mail and through passengers cannot be considered satisfactory to this community. It was further pointed out that "this right is denied to no other citizens in Canada, the people of Lethbridge being able to fly to Regina, or the people of Montreal being permitted to fly to Ottawa, a flight requiring 55 minutes, slightly longer than the Victoria-Vancouver flight."

Under the order of the Board of Transport Commissioners, the machines of the TCA will more often than not fly across the Gulf of Georgia almost empty of passengers. Not only does the present arbitrary arrangement deny local passengers the use of this long-awaited service; at a time when transportation of all types is at a premium it is sheer waste. As clearly stated the other day, the ruling of the Transport Board is based on an Act of the Canadian Parliament, and under the law governing TCA it is permitted to operate exclusively on main lines. One of the main lines under this law runs from Victoria to Halifax. Nevertheless, the Board rules that while TCA may pick up Victoria passengers going, say, to Lethbridge or Ottawa, it may not carry passengers who only wish to go to Vancouver. No Victoria passenger is permitted to travel to Vancouver on these lines.

The Vancouver Sun quite properly reminds us that: "TCA flies by beam. It is the fastest and probably the safest service in the world. It flies at night when Vancouver-Victoria service of Canadian Pacific Airways is not operating. The night TCA plane going from our Sea Island airport over to Patricia Bay, outside Victoria, would provide an intercity service of great value to Vancouver businessmen who are in a hurry, but cannot get a seat on the Canadian Pacific day plane. Every day, on its morning and night flight, TCA liners could expect to carry a number of local passengers between the two cities."

It should be remembered, too, that TCA staked out the Victoria-to-Halifax route for itself at the very beginning of national aviation, and its program became part of the law of the land. But the law as it stands denies the line to carry passengers between the capital of British Columbia and Canada's third largest city. The recommendation of the City Council should be heeded by the Transport Board.

The 'One World' Idea

YESTERDAY IN WASHINGTON THE foreign affairs committee of the House of Representatives moved for definite Congressional action in support of providing the means to make a just peace permanent. It is the first postwar proposal endorsed by this important body, and three executive sessions succeeded in boiling down dozens of world-organization plans to a one-sentence resolution, which reads as follows:

"Resolved, by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring) that the Congress hereby expresses itself as favoring the creation of appropriate international machinery with power adequate to establish and to maintain a just and lasting peace, and as favoring participation by the United States therein."

Resolutions often are passed to end discussions which have reached the highly-controversial stage; they sometimes prevent tempers from becoming too frayed. Not that the foregoing should be so classified. Public opinion in the United States is gradually developing an international outlook. The character of this war, some of the reasons why it became inevitable, the physical and material involvement of our neighbor in it, has changed many previously rigid minds. But until a large and influential section of the American public has fully realized that the withdrawal of the United States from world affairs after the advent of the Harding administration in 1920 was an important contributing factor—as it was to the conflict now raging, Congress may hesitate to implement the principle of the resolution set out above, or begin the process in too leisurely a fashion. This aspect of American policy, what it should or should not be, is plainly declared in Mr. Willkie's "One World" in the following terms:

"America must choose one of three courses after this war: Narrow nationalism, which inevitably means the ultimate loss of our own liberty; international imperialism, which means the sacrifice of some other nation's liberty; or the creation of a world in which there shall be an equality of opportunity for every race and every nation."

Mr. Willkie is confident the American people will choose the last of the courses he has set forth. But he emphatically argues that to make this choice effective, "we must win not only the war, but also the peace, and we must start winning it now." This is the correct return to those timid and unimaginative souls who do not realize the urgency of action. The passage of the resolution to which we have referred, however, is an encouraging move.

Highly Speculative

WHILE WAITING FOR THE INVASION of continental Europe to begin, the Vancouver Sun has given a place of honor on its front page to a signed article purporting to suggest that "the phrase 'general election' is being tossed around in political circles" in that city, following the "dramatic defeat" of the Hart-Maitland Coalition "by the rising C.C.F. threat."

Why on earth should the Coalition government run up the white flag because it has lost two by-elections since it took office a year and a half ago? Both the Sun and the Vancouver Daily Province agree that the present administration has given British Columbia the best government in its history. But it is not a miracle worker. Nor do the people expect miracles; and when average citizens of this province have taken the time to study its achievements to date, they will agree that the record will stand up under the most exacting scrutiny.

Of course Premier Hart could promise the people of this province the sun and the moon and the stars; but he is not built that way. Nor do we believe for one moment that any thinking person is in the mood to turn over the conduct of provincial affairs to a party pledged to militant and revolutionary socialism. Orderly progress of a sensible and practical kind, however, is assured as the Coalition government implements the Perry Report—as it must do.

Billions and Trillions

MOST PEOPLE BY THIS TIME HAVE

accustomed themselves to the astronomical figures of war costs. Billions of dollars roll off the tongues of Canadians just as easily as a few thousands did a quarter of a century ago. But we are now being introduced to the trillion by a Washington correspondent who has delved into figures recently made public by the United States Department of Commerce. These are intended to show that by the end of next year Adolf Hitler's debt to the world in terms of money—or what goes for money—will have exceeded half a trillion dollars. At least that staggering sum will then have been expended by the United Nations for war purposes since the former Austrian corporal rose to power in Germany—even if the current rate of expenditure is not increased, and it is highly probable that the price of war will go up in the meantime. Here are the statistics on which the Department of Commerce bases its calculations:

United States (1940-43)	$112,300,000,000
Great Britain (1932-43)	$8,300,000,000
Russia (1932-41)	$6,300,000,000
Canada (1932-43)	$414,000,000
France (1932-July, 1940)	$10,100,000,000

Poland (1932-39)	$2,600,000,000
Netherlands (1932-40)	$88,000,000
Belgium (1932-40)	$3,600,000,000
Norway (1932-40)	$1,000,000,000

The cost of Hitler so far, however, is not the whole financial story of the world's loss. Mr. Leon S. Wellstone, former economist in the United States Department of Commerce, explains another aspect this way:

"To the economic privations resulting from the unrelenting military expenditure, and causing a lowered standard of living everywhere, there must be added also the decline in the national income of the countries now subjected by the Axis powers. 'National income' is used here as defined in the United States—the net final product of a national economy in operation. The loss in national income in Axis-conquered lands unquestionably exceeds $10,000,000,000, bringing the cost of Hitler so far to a figure exceeding $200,000,000,000."

It will be understood that the United States is bearing approximately half of the cost of the war because she is in a position to do so and because the full financial resources of the Republic are required by the war. But while the dollars-and-cents expenditures of her Allies may look comparatively small when compared with her own, even the former isolationists in Congress seem to realize that the contribution of the other anti-Axis countries can be measured not in cash but only in blood and sacrifice. Had Britain and the Empire not stood firm during the fateful months of 1940 and still alone through half of 1941, for example, what might have been the state of the world today?

Agrees To The Truce

conference has decided on a vote of seven to one to continue its adherence to the political truce. This means that it will refuse its official sanction and support to any aspirant for parliamentary honors who may desire to wear the party label in opposition to a government nominee. The National Liberal Party similarly has followed the rule and has abstained from official participation in all by-elections since the three-party agreement went into effect soon after Mr. Churchill formed his coalition cabinet in May, 1940.

The Labor Party's decision, however, was not reached without a somewhat heated debate. Lord Strabolgi, for example, put up a vigorous fight for the abolition of the truce. His argument was that Conservative candidates were winning contests in which the Labor Party had an excellent opportunity of increasing its voting strength in the House of Commons. He cited the fact, incidentally, that no such arrangement prevailed in any of the Dominions—a somewhat different matter. We in Canada, of course, are considerably removed from the physical impact of the war. Such is far from the case in Britain; the enemy is ever present in the air and only 21 miles away on the continent. So the Labor Party has decreed that normal political distractions can remain suspended for the time being.

Hitler's end is certain. The more people worship a tin god, the more they hate him when he falls.

WRONG AGAIN

HAVING FAILED invariably in the past, this department should have had enough sense not to sponsor any more fine causes. But with customary weak-mindedness I inserted here a few days ago a few kind words about the Royal Air Force boys now serving in Canada. The results have been disturbing.

From these fellows, whom I have frequently picked up on the road, I clearly understood that their pay was about half that of the Canadian airmen and I thought it was a shame. As usual, the mathematics of the matter were too much for me. I should never touch figures. Now I am assured by special courier that I was quite wrong and the pay of both services is the same, as it should be. This department is always reliable. You can rely on it to be wrong.

But there can be no doubt about the general theory set down here that English boys do not feel happy in Canada. Their reasons evidently go much deeper than the pay cheque and I do not pretend to understand them entirely. I merely suggest that they represent a most interesting human problem and indicate the great difference in outlook that exists in Britain and in Canada.

To recognize this difference is the first step towards a better understanding. Our greatest mistake in the English-speaking world is to imagine that all English-speaking people are really the same. They are not, of course, and the attempt to make them so, or to assume them so, always leads to trouble.

IRRITATION

WHEN A BRITISHER imagines that an American or a Canadian is only another Englishman with a slightly different form of speech, he is inevitably irritated by what he finds here. He is disappointed, to start with, to discover that his original assumption is unsound and that we are a different people.

He is also irritated by superficial differences in manners (which are of no real importance) because he expects us to observe the manners of the Englishmen. If he accepted the proposition at the start that we are a different people he would not be surprised or annoyed at our manners and customs. He would not expect a Frenchman or a Russian to believe as he does and their peculiarities would rather delight him. When he expects us to behave as he does, because we are merely Englishmen who have moved out of England, he is distressed by our actual performance.

In the same way many Americans regard Englishmen as that branch of the family which fell behind in the march of progress, stayed home on a little island and failed to keep up with the immigrants who inhabit America. This is obviously absurd, since Britain in a social sense is far more progressive and enlightened than America, and the assumption leads to friction. The American does not find anything peculiar in a Chinese gentleman wearing a dressing gown, but he thinks it odd and revolting that an Englishman wears a monocle because the Englishman is, after all, only another kind of American.

If we were to recognize at the beginning that we are not all the same people in our manners we would be better able to appreciate the only important fact, that we are the same people in our basic attitude towards life, in everything that matters. Unfortunately it is always manners that appear and irritate. Basic principles, and the deeper beliefs of the human spirit, are usually hidden and hardly mentioned in conversation. It is the habit of our race to regard them as unfit for conversation.

DO WE WANT THEM

THEY ASSURE ME at Pat Bay that many of the British boys do like Canada and some intend to live here permanently. I am delighted to hear it, but I still have no doubt from the numerous samples I have seen that a majority will prefer England. It is a question, indeed, whether Britain will ever be able to export any large numbers of people to America again, for its birth and death rate dooms it to a disastrous decline in population. It will have only some 20,000,000 people at the end of this century, as I recollect the figures, unless its habits of reproduction change.

If we want many more people in Canada we must evidently look to other European countries. But it is not clear yet that we do want them. Everybody is for immigration in the abstract, but as soon as it is proposed in practice after the war you will hear from one end of the country to the other the shout of those who say that we must bring in no outsiders until every Canadian is employed. This means we must never bring in any outsiders and it probably means also that we shall never reach full employment in this country.

But if we do accept immigrants we needn't expect them to be Canadians in the first generation. Some will accept the ways of this country completely but most will do so only in a superficial sense. Inevitably they will think of their original country as home, as most English people do in this country today. This is not peculiar. It is precisely the way we should feel if we emigrated to England.

This feeling soon passes. The next generation is Canadian, and the only hope for this country is in Canadianism, in our own civilization and in the recognition that it is our own, not an imitation of any other.

Parallel Thoughts

Reprove not a sinner, lest he hate thee; rebuke a wise man, and he will love thee.—Proverbs 9:8.

Life is a long lesson in humility.—Barrie.

Right in the Pant-elleria

Our Radio Not Good Enough

From Vancouver Sun.

A COMMITTEE of the Canadian Parliament has started to consider once more the affairs of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. It had better consider the whole radio system of Canada. Especially it had better consider the true interest of the radio listeners, who are the people of Canada.

Today our radio system in Canada is unique but not too satisfactory.

The Canadian people have decided—and rightly, we believe—that the great medium of radio shall not be dominated by private interests, to be used for their own purposes. No man can buy up Canadian air. That principle will and should be maintained.

But Canada permits private radio stations, on the theory that the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation can not do the entire job. In fact, the CBC has to use 26 privately-owned stations to distribute its programs all over the country. Also, by permitting private operation, Canada hopes to stimulate competition and thus improve the programs of both the private and public systems.

Unhappily, these hopes have not been fulfilled.

In the first place, the CBC itself has gone through a period of administration chaos, due to faulty management and not to the principle of public ownership.

More than that, however, the CBC has not proved able to use the medium of radio for the full purposes of public education. Because it is a public corporation it has not permitted what it calls "controversial" subjects on the air, except with extraordinary safeguards and on rare occasions.

If radio is to play its full part in our democracy it should be filled with controversy. That is the essence of democracy. Our whole system depends on debate, on the presentation of opposite viewpoints so that "the public" may know all sides of all questions.

Who will say that a listener on the CBC network will know all sides of all questions? In point of fact, apart from the bare news, some entertainment and some lectures on non-controversial subjects, he will receive nothing. The CBC simply is not a vital part of our Canadian democracy, even though the people pay for it in license fees.

The private stations are supposed to supply this need for controversy. They are not doing it, either. How can they?

The private stations are under the control of their competitor. The CBC not only operates its own network but controls all the private stations as well. The private station is in the position of a storekeeper whose big competitor next door is also the law-maker, the regulator, the policeman. Finally, the private station can be put out of business at the end of the year by the CBC by the cancellation of its license.

There is a vital question of principle here. When the private stations desire to expand, to spend money, to improve their services, who decides whether they shall be allowed to do it? The CBC decides. Is it likely that the CBC will encourage its competitor? Is it likely the CBC will help to build up private programs which might be better than its own—and often good to be much better? In such a question, which will the CBC put first—its own interest or the interest of the listener?

Obviously, the whole system operates against the interest of the listener. The solution certainly is not to throw air open to private control and thus to the domination of men who have plenty of money. Canada certainly will maintain a publicly-owned network beyond the influence of wealth. The solution, we think, must be approached from three angles.

First, we should recognize that there is a place for a public system and a private system in competition which will improve the quality of both.

Second, the CBC itself should be rivaled and compelled to give us programs essential to public education in place of mere denatured talks edited to prevent controversy.

Third, control of private radio should not be under the same men who control the CBC network and whose chief aim must be to protect that network from its competitors.

Canada must face the fact that our postwar economy will be a combination of these two systems working side by side. In radio we have not faced it and we are not getting adequate service from either system.

Women Also Ready To Help Haying

A lull in berry-picking activities in the Saanich area is expected during the next few days, as the 43 pickers who went out Monday from the Victoria and Sidney offices of the Dominion Provincial Emergency Farm Labor Service, effectively cleaned up on most berry patches to which they were sent.

C. M. Smith, office manager of the Victoria office today, said that he estimated the office had enough names of volunteer pickers on hand to carry through this week, but he emphasized that with a few days of warm weather, ripening more berries, picking will start again in earnest about next week-end.

He urged that volunteers wishing to go to work at such a time, or any time later, register at the Victoria office, 909 Government Street.

Eleven representatives from the Sidney Women's Land Army, formed by the wives of men in the R.C.A.F., R.A.F. and army units, are now going out each day to various farms to do work ranging from hoeing vegetables to berry picking. Some have volunteered for haying, as this is one aspect of farm work in which one of the most serious shortages of help is occurring. At first it was believed that this work would be too hard for women, but some of the volunteers claim that they have done it before. If first experiments prove successful there is a possibility that women may be more widely recruited to help relieve the serious shortage of labor for the hay-making season.

Dehydrated eggs retain practically all of the vitamin A of fresh eggs.

Other Areas Send Workers to Coast

Excellent results in the clearing of skilled and semi-skilled workers from areas where there is at present a surplus of this type of labor, to areas such as Victoria, where there is a great demand, is being effected through the channels of National Selective Service, it was learned today.

Speaking for the work of the office, W. G. Stone, who is acting manager in the absence of G. A. Mudge, said: "Outside of compulsory transfer orders, clearance operations are excellent."

He said that skilled and semi-skilled workers from towns and cities all over western Canada are being brought here to help in factories, shipyards and construction work requiring a high degree of skill and training.

"The men," he said, "represent practically every city in western Canada."

Their transfer to this area, where they can make a great contribution to the increasing activity of this war working city, said Mr. Stone, is being made possible through National Selective Service offices in every town and city on the prairies and in other parts of B.C.

While prevented, by Dominion orders, from revealing the actual number transferred here, within the past few weeks, Mr. Stone said that it ran into "dozens."

Group Capt. Pope To Get New Post

Regret at the prospect of leaving the Pacific Coast was expressed today by Group Capt. S. L. Pope, D.F.C., A.F.C., when he announced that he is being relieved of his command of an R.A.F. station here for duties elsewhere.

Towering six feet seven inches in height, Group Capt. Pope has become a familiar figure since he took command of his station in April of 1942, and will be missed at the many public and private functions he attended.

A veteran of the First Great War, he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross in 1918 for his services as a fighter pilot in that conflict, his Air Force Cross coming later.

He has served throughout the present war with distinction in Britain and north Africa when the fighting there was known as the Battle of Egypt. He is a native of Ireland.

No information was available as to when the R.A.F. commander will be leaving or by whom he will be succeeded.

74 Bursary Winners To Teach School

While it is not yet known exactly how many of the 200 new teachers graduated this month from Victoria and Vancouver normal schools will take up their profession in September the Department of Education can pretty well depend on the 74 bursary winners.

These students, who were assisted financially through their year at normal gave an undertaking last September that they would teach as soon as they were ready.

The sum of $10,000, shared 50-50 by Dominion and Provincial governments was distributed among students of good standing, who needed financial assistance. Individual bursaries were between $75 and $175.

A similar sum will be available to help students through normal next year, the education department said today.

Mother-in-Law Day Set for June 30

SPOKANE (AP)—When and if your mother-in-law slaps you down June 30 with your wife's Ming vase, don't be a cad, Americans were adjured today. Grin, brother, and kiss her.

June 30, revered by womankind as mamma's last chance to get daughter a June husband, will be

Mother-in-law Day throughout the United States.

The gag-masters of the Spokane Athletic Round Table, responsible for the far-famed "Bundles for Congress" notion, came up with the idea today and notified all their approximately 2,500 members to zip up their grudges June 30 and give mother-in-law a happy day.

"Thousands of mothers-in-law are home-front soldiers in this war, taking care of the children and the home while the men-folks are at the front and the mothers are in war industry," said the committee in charge. "It would be a fine gesture to show a little friendship toward the person who has suffered for centuries as the victim of worn-out jokes."

In its official announcement, however, the committee was violently less tactful. The front of the notification card bore the unattractive drawing of an Amazon armed with a rolling pin and seated on a throne marked "mother-in-law." Approaching her was the club's horse mascot, "Esmeralda," bearing a crown of leaves.

"You guys on the home front keep up her morale," said the message to members. "Also, help the poor florists, jewelers, department stores and cocktail bars."

Emotional Problems Of Postwar Period Concern Y.W.C.A.

Emotional readjustments between men and women who have been separated for long periods during the war will present one of the biggest problems to be tackled after the war by Y.W.C.A. officials, two national spokesmen, Miss Louise Gates, national general secretary of the "Y" and Mrs. J. L. Savage, head of the War Services Committee, both of Toronto, said in an interview Monday.

The two leaders, who are in Victoria today, expressed the hope that thousands of girls who have become acquainted with "Y" facilities during the war will continue to use them later.

Mrs. Savage stated that discussions of plans to help girls in the services and in war plants readjust to peacetime living have already taken place.

The work of auxiliary hostesses at leave centres for army, navy and air force girls was highly praised by Miss Gates, who pointed out that these young women perform many of the chores that the girls' officers haven't time to do.

The leave centres established by the "Y" in Vancouver and Victoria were the second and third to be set up in Canada. The first was opened on the east coast. All leave centres equipped by the "Y" are operated by "Y" officials, on authorization of the director of auxiliary services.

Mrs. Savage and Miss Gates will spend a couple of days here before leaving for Banff to attend an area conference there June 22 and 24. Mrs. T. B. Inglis, who has charge of the Y.W.C.A. housing registry here, will also attend the conference.

Area conferences have been set up in various parts of the country to eliminate long trips across the country and findings of the groups will be presented at an annual Y.W.C.A. meeting to be held later in Montreal.

Women's Association Presbytery of Victoria and Vancouver Island will meet at 2:30 p.m. at Belmont United Church Monday, June 21.

Women's Union of First Baptist Church will hold a guest luncheon Thursday at 12 noon when Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., will speak on "Today's Challenge to Women." Ladies are asked to bring their own tea, sugar and butter, also their sunshine bags.

P.P.C.L.I. Women's Auxiliary met at the Y.W.C.A. Monday afternoon with Mrs. J. T. Harper, president, in the chair. Members welcomed Mrs. W. G. Colquhoun, honorary president; back to the meeting. On the advice of a member of the regiment, recently returned from overseas, it was decided to include tooth brushes and an all-purpose soap in the monthly parcels, as the articles were particularly hard to obtain in England. Members agreed that cigarettes and jenkins would be sent as usual, also a large amount of life savers. A garden tea was planned for late in the summer.

Mrs. L. Holling led the opening devotions at the meeting of the W.M.S., Victoria West United Church, held Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Beattie, Edward Street. Mrs. J. P. Hicks presided. A good report of the treasury was given by Mrs. J. H. Croft, and supplies requested were received towards allocation. Donation was made towards sum for deficit in United Church Board receipts at Toronto. Mrs. A. Hiquenard told of visits made to those who are ill. Thanks were given Mrs. Gordon Mitchell for her vocal solo, "The Ninety and Nine." Mrs. L. A. Young, accompanist.—Mrs. W. F. Community Feeding Centres to Solve Housing Problem

Community feeding centres which would offer breakfast, lunch or dinner to approximately 200 people at a nominal charge, were seen as a possible solution to Victoria's acute housing problem, at a meeting of the Women's Regional Advisory Committee, in Union Building, Tuesday.

Delegates felt that if centres were established a greater number of people could take advantage of the "single bedroom" accommodation now available in the city and made recommendations to Miss Byrne Sanders, Consumer Branch, W.P.T.E., and Russell Smart, Real Property Administrator that the matter be considered.

The move was made when delegates learned that local shipyards were recruiting workers throughout the country and that National Housing Registry here have no accommodation available, with 673 unfilled applications on hand at the present time. Mrs. Paul Smith explained that the centres could be modeled on the British restaurant plan with meals supplied as cheaply as possible.

"During May, 421 people including more than 100 children were placed in family accommodation and 344 people were placed in rooms," Mrs. W. E. Rayfuse, manager of the Registry, stated in her report. Of the 673 unfilled applications, more than half of them were from families with children, while much of the accommodation offered in the compulsory registration were single bedrooms, she said.

MEAT COUPONS

The committee decided to ask Ottawa to perforate meat coupons in future in order that housewives may use one-quarter or one-half of a coupon, following discussion of several complaints on the matter of meat rationing. An educational campaign to deter people who do not intend to do home canning from making application for canning sugar was urged by members.

Members expressed the hope that by February there might be some sugar available for marmalade. Mrs. P. Rayment, convener of jam-making for the Red Cross, requested that anyone having surplus fruit send it to her for this purpose. Members were each

St. Andrews' Anglican Church, Sidney, was the setting for a very pretty wedding Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, when Eileen Estelle, only daughter of Mrs. Lorna E. McKenzie and the late Earl L. Given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. J. J. White, the bride was radiant in her gown of antique satin and corded silk tulle. The bodice, with a sweetheart neckline, had long pointed sleeves and was attached to the full skirt with applique. Her matching floor-length veil was caught to a Juliet cap of antique satin with two gardenias over the ears. She carried a white leather prayer book on which was posed mauve orchids, with a shower of swansons. A string of her grandmother's pearls was the bride's only ornament.

Mrs. H. G. L. on of Toronto, was matron of honor, wearing heavily blue organza, with white embroidered flowers over blue corded tulle, and a matching Juliet cap trimmed with blue and pink sweet peas. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink sweet peas, roses and delphinium. F.O. Toye, Pallas, Vancouver, supported the groom and F.O. H. G. Lyon and Mr. A. K. Wilson acted as ushers. Prizegiving Ceremony At Oak Bay High School

Ian Horne received the Merit Cup from Dr. S. J. Willis.

This is the day of youths' opportunity, D. H. Harkness, principal of Oak Bay High School, said as he launched 80 graduates into "a new world, into an era of which we have never known before." In an impressive ceremony held at the auditorium Tuesday afternoon.

As the students' names were called, they filed onto the flower-adorned stage to receive certificates at the hands of Dr. S. J. Willis, deputy minister and superintendent of education. Also on the stage were members of the school board and their wives.

Addressing the matriculating class in particular, Mr. Harkness said: "We may well have the supreme confidence in our country. As we look back to the marshalling of Canada's resources through the war years, we find a solid foundation for our faith in her present greatness, and looking ahead can see in mind the advances, both spiritual and material, that will spring from our present sacrifices and opportunities for you."

"Such a vision," he assured them, "may well be a spur to ambition and a guide in planning, for this is the day of youths' opportunity, and it is your part to be found ready."

Mr. Harkness summarized the undertakings of the school during the year. The Junior Red Cross has raised $1,200 for war nurseries in Britain, $40 for China Relief Fund and conducted sewing groups, stamp collections and salvage drives.

War Saving Stamps, Mr. Harkness reported, had been sold to the amount of $940, exclusive of war certificates and bonds.

Challenge cups in sports, he said, are this year held by seniors R. Hetherington, Megan Scott and Ursula MacKenzie, and by juniors D. Smith and Sheila Whittemore.

The life saving class earned eight medallions and certificates, the leader getting his instructor's certificate. The Oak Bay High School still holds the Beatty Swimming Trophy, Mr. Harkness announced.

Red Cross Corps Seeks Recruits

Are you a woman physically fit, between 18 and 45, anxious "to do your bit" but unable for family or business reasons to "go active"? If you are, you can join the Canadian Red Cross Corps. No. 1 Detachment of this organization stationed at Victoria is now conducting its annual recruiting campaign.

This detachment has a record of which it may well be proud. First organized as the British Columbia Women's Service Corps in the early months of 1939 it has given initial training to many who are now officers and other ranks in the C.W.A.C., R.C.A.F. (W.D.) and W.R.C.N.S.

No. 1 Detachment is divided into four sections, motor transport, nursing, clerical and food. This makes it possible to place each member in the section which most appeals to her and where she can do the work for which she is best qualified. All members of the corps belong to the A.R.P. and all are assigned to special duties in the case of enemy attack or other emergency. To prepare for such eventualities is the real purpose behind the training given by the Canadian Red Cross Corps.

The corps parades once a week at Memorial Hall. All members are required to take courses in first-aid and anti-gas, and in addition, they are drilled by a competent instructor furnished by the military authorities.

Besides general duties each section has its own particular job. The Motor Transport Section is responsible for transportation and is called upon to furnish drivers for the surgical van and ambulance operated by the No. 1 Detachment of the Canadian Red Cross Corps. For this reason members of the section receive lectures in motor mechanics and map reading in addition to the general courses.

At the present time there are vacancies in the Motor Transport Section and girls and women who are good drivers and who are mechanically inclined are urged to join.

The Canadian Red Cross Corps is primarily a service organization and members of No. 1 Detachment, Victoria, are willing at all times to help the war effort in every possible way. In addition to their other duties, they are to be found putting in long hours at the various service centres and also assist in tag days.

Clubwomen

A total of 50,000 servicemen visited the Three Services Canteen during the past month and 15,000 made use of the milk bar. It was reported Tuesday, at the final meeting of the Three Services W.A., until September. Mrs. W. N. Sheffield presided and a special invitation was issued to all United States servicemen to visit the Canteen.

Women's Auxiliary to the T.V.A. Veterans met recently at the clubrooms, Blanshard Street, the president, Miss R. Standerwick, in the chair. There will be no meeting in July and August. September meeting will be held at the home of the president, 1023 Bay Street. A social tea followed when guests from Pro Patria and Britannia Branch and friends were welcomed by the hostesses. Proceeds from tea are for special war work and comforts for service men.

A resume of the deliberations of the Washington War Effort Assembly, arranged by the Washington State Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and held in Seattle May 14 and 15, was given by Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., at the supper meeting of the Victoria B. and P. W. Club Monday evening. Mrs. Hodges, who was a guest speaker at the Seattle gathering, told the members of the splendid results of the American women in raising $193,000 in war bonds in 10 days, in addition to many other phases of war work.

Miss Edith Parsell presided at the meeting and Mrs. Frank C. Patterson moved the vote of thanks to the speaker. Mrs. J. Farquharson reminded the members to send in their nomination forms before Thursday.

By ART STOTT

THE WORLD of the future, according to a famous writer, may see the age of the mole. He suggests danger of attack will drive people underground to live in subsurface communities within the earth.

It's a depressing thought and officials of the local softball league think it's too early to introduce the plan, except, of course, in the form of air raid shelters.

Now, say the officials, softball diamonds are being worn down to the point where a small player at the plate, is standing in a hollow so deep, the pitcher is lobbing them over to an unseen batter. It equalizes out, to a degree, owing to the fact the pitcher's mound, box, or whatever you like to call it, is also down in a pit.

Similar conditions are reported on some of the bases. A runner going to third, doesn't slide in any more, one critic contends, he falls in.

He says a player stealing home raced away at such a lick he tunnelled in half way and hasn't been found yet. That's serious, with good base stealers scarce.

Sure. That's fantasy. But it's offered for a purpose. Injuries have resulted to players from the worn-out condition of the pitches. One girl broke her leg in two places. Another wrenched her ankle and was laid up for two weeks. Both were running bases and hit the uneven dirt near the bags.

The softballers realize labor is scarce and that parks are getting more use than they have had for years, owing to the gas rationing. They suggest parks board officials contact some of the clubs in the district and call for volunteers to put the playgrounds in better shape.

It would appear false economy to let the diamonds fall into such a state of disrepair major outlays would be needed to put them into shape when labor may become available.

If the parks board is interested it might contact Walter Yeamans who could suggest volunteer labor sources.

As he sat by the waters of the Gorge on a placid evening this week, a fish and game association official who prefers to be nameless conceived an entertaining idea.

He was watching sea trout rise to take flies in the inland water way.

"There's no reason in the world why there shouldn't be some grand casting there for the boys who haven't enough gas to get away from town," he mused, and you may find a few there going there in the next few weeks.

Sea trout, according to this expert, provide lots of sport on proper tackle and are tasty, if you have a palate for fish.

An apology is due Walter Newcombe, medalist in Sunday's Victoria Golf Club championship qualifying round. He was reported to have posted a "net 68". It should have been a "net 58". Sorry, Walter, there's a nut loose in front of this typewriter.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Luther (Sluggo) White, Baltimore claimant to the lightweight championship, gained a unanimous verdict in 10 rounds over Juan Zurita, the Mexican titleholder, Tuesday night. White weighed 134½; Zurita 133.

Lacrosse Crews Work For Opening June 25

Players and officials of the Greater Victoria Box Lacrosse Association will work tonight at Stephenson Memorial Park, starting at 6.30, to prepare the box and other fixtures for the opening clash of senior teams on the evening of June 25.

The opening date was set at a meeting of the association in the British Public Schools Club Tuesday evening, with Royal Canadian Air Force and Victoria Cougars listed for the first clash. Net gate receipts will go to the Queen Alexandra Solarium Fund.

Both teams are reported to have smart players lined up.

A report on activities was made by Doug Fletcher, secretary of the association.

Eight clubs have entered the various divisions of the local association, but officials decided to extend the deadline to June 25 in order to accommodate any late entrants. Teams entered are: Senior, R.C.A.F. and Victoria Cougars; Junior, Jokers; Juvenile A, Owl Drug; Juvenile B, Douglas Tire and Oaklands; midge, James Bay and Oaklands.

Race Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — Chief Specialist J. Gregory Rice (right in picture), the other half of the heralded Rice-Gunder Haegg foot-racing duel, said Tuesday night he had received permission from his commanding officer and definitely would oppose the swift Swede in Sunday's 5,000-metre A.A.U. title race.

Earlier Rice said his failure to fill out an entry blank was due to the fact he hasn't received official permission to compete from his superior officer at the United States Maritime School at King's Point, Long Island.

As for his chances of beating Haegg, whose best time for 5,000 metres is his world record of 13.58.2, as compared to Rice's 13.58.4, that's where Greg just can't get steamed up. He's in fine physical condition, he says, although he hasn't had much time for training. But he adds: "I don't have the enthusiasm I should have."

It was pointed out that Haegg might not be in top physical condition after a long voyage from Sweden on a tanker followed by only a short training period. Haegg suffered a slight cut on the knee Tuesday when he wound up a training session at Dartmouth by trying to make a four-foot high jump.

"His lack of training might even things up," Rice admitted, "but there's still 35 seconds between us and that's a lot to make up in a race."

Gil Dodds, Burnham Run 1,500 Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — A race that might have been one of the super-specials of the winter-indoor track season is likely to pass almost unnoticed Saturday. It's a 1,500-metre tussle between Parsen Gil Dodds and Dartmouth's Don Burnham. It was scheduled for Saturday, along with the junior championships, because Dodds won't run on Sunday and the A.A.U. wanted to provide some opposition in case Haegg chose to run the 1,500.

Mel Ott has been picked as the No. 1 father of the year in sports by the National Father's Day committee. . . from the Glants' place in the standings, we'd guess they're working on the idea that father always is in the doghouse.

According to Greg Rice, Gunder Haegg's system of training in the woods may be all right for anyone who has "the European ability to punish himself," but American boys who try the same thing are likely to become interested in the scenery and forget to bear down.

Baseball fans at the Norfolk naval training station figure that Scooter Rizzuto must have learned something from the Cardinals last fall. In one game recently, Scooter stole two bases, scored from second once on an infield out and stretched a single into a double for the winning run. His only speed rival on the team is Jeff Cross, former Cardinal farmhand, who made it from first to third on a bunt in the same game.

V.M.D.-R.A.F. Soccer Final Set Thursday

Proceeds will be turned over to the Queen Alexandra Solarium for crippled children. Dave McMillan will handle the fixture.

At the suggestion of Joek McCall a presale of tickets was opened at the V.M.D. yard and returns were encouraging today. The trophy will be presented to the winner by Mrs. P. H. Brown, Solarium League president, at the close of the fixture.

Glamorous Gloria Pro

BOSTON (AP) — Glamorous Gloria Callen, the Nyack, N.Y., backstroke champion, has signed a professional contract to co-star with Buster Crabbe, Hollywood film star and former swimming champion, in the Water Folies of 1943.

Solly Snyder, representative of the National Water Shows Company of Boston, said that Miss Callen, holder of more than 30 American women's swimming records, accepted the largest guarantee paid an American swimmer to turn professional.

Softball Tie Changed

Navy, Airmen Win

Two teams, R.C.A.F. and Navy, remained knotted in first slot in Victoria's senior A softball standings today following victories over the Army and the V.M.D., respectively, at Athletic Park Tuesday evening.

The decisions broke a four-way tie in the standings and promised keen games Thursday when the V.M.D. tries to climb back with a win over the airmen and the army trains its guns on the sailors in an effort to regain their position.

Navy started off with a bang Tuesday night to run in three tallies in the opening frame and added one more in each of the sixth and seventh, while they held the shipbuilders scoreless, for a 5 to 0 triumph.

In the other half of the twin bill, R.C.A.F. pushed home a runner in the third and then came back with a pair after the Army had tied it up with a lone score in their half of the fifth. The final count was 3 to 1.

Parent's homer in the fifth was the deciding factor. He went in with Jimmy Lowe on base from a single and clouted out the four-bagger that won.

Harry Braverman limited the army to three scattered hits while the Flyers grabbed nine safeties from Sammy Kennedy.

Philadelphia Teams Take Doubleheaders

This is a little baseball laugh that wanders around the major and minor leagues like the chocolate streak in a marble cake, and winds up with a very red face for Branch Rickey, the old smoothie of the ivory markets, as well as a shot in the arm for the Phillies.

It's about the Phils' new shortstop, Charley Brewster, who speeds up the infield like high octane gas. And its fits into the diamond picture today because the good burghers of Philadelphia are still dancing in the streets over Tuesday's astonishing antics, which saw the Phillies and the Athletics each win both ends of a doubleheader on the same afternoon for the first time in eight years.

Baseball men tell you Brewster is the guy who is making the Phillies run like a 16-cylinder job again, just when it began to look as if they were the same old jalopy. And what makes it particularly funny is that less than seven months ago, the Brooklyn Dodgers owned Georgia Charley.

Rickey practically gave him away—and how the Bums need a short-felder like a hitch-hiker needs his thumb. Just ask Limping Lenny Durocher, who's had to creak around there himself the last few days. It was so bad Tuesday, in fact, that Ernie Lombardi, baseball's original glue-foot, beat out a hit to short, as New York Giants jolted the fading Flatbushers 6 to 5. This setback sank the Brooklyn three

North Shore Takes Coast Soccer Title

VANCOUVER (CP) — North Shore won the senior soccer coast league championship Tuesday night with a 6-3 victory over St. Saviours. North Shore won the first half of the league schedule and Tuesday night's contest gave them a one-point lead over St. Saviours in the second half, thus eliminating necessity of play-offs.

Softball Umps Form New Group

Victoria's softball umpires, formed now into an association, with Bob Whyte umpire-in-chief, as chairman, appeared to have their difficulties straightened out today.

The formation of the association took place at a meeting in Liberal Headquarters Tuesday night at which pledges of support were made by the officials and by representatives of the Lower Island Softball Association.

In addition to its ordinary duties in handling games, the new organization undertook to stimulate development of new umpires. Allocation of men to various games will be left in the hands of the softball body.

The meeting appeared to have restored harmony and avoided a threatened rift in the local softball set-up here.

Castoff Charley Brewster Sparks Phillies' Climb

full games out of first place in the National League, since St. Louis Cardinals belted Cincinnati Reds 3 to 1 on Harry Gumbert's two-hit hurling.

At Nashville last year, the folks said he really had the makings, so Rickey brought him up. But brainy Branch sent him to Milwaukee with a bundle of cash—estimated at $15,000—for Hal Peck. The Brewers got him just 10 minutes before the draft meeting last December, and the Reds drafted him right then. The Brewers squawked—but Commissioner Landis said the deal "stuck," and Charley'd been with two clubs in 10 minutes.

A few weeks ago, Cox-traded Danny Litwhiler, who was doing the Phils no good, and Earl Naylor to the Cards for Triplett, Buster Adams and Dain Clay. The Reds, full up with shortstops and always looking for a fly-chaser, sent Brewster to the Phils for free. He's made just one error in six games and has zipped up the infield until you'd hardly recognize it.

TRIPLETT HOMER WINS

And Triplett has earned his corner and cakes with two homers in the same half dozen games. One of them, hooked up to a triple, gave the Phils a 6 to 4 decision over Boston in their opener Tuesday. Ronny Northey hit for the jackpot once in each game and the Phils took the nightcap 2 to 1 which boosted them into fifth place in the league.

Meantime, making it Philadelphia's biggest day since Billy Penn got together with the Indians, the A's socked the Red Sox 7 to 4 and 4 to 2.

The Yankees went four full games out in front in the American League by whipping Washington 9 to 5. In the other after-dark outing—Detroit and Cleveland were rained out—St. Louis Browns belted Chicago White Sox 5 to 2.

Truett Sewell served up a steady nine-hitter to give Pittsburgh Pirates a 4 to 2 decision over Chicago Cubs.

SEATTLE, PORTLAND BLANKED

The northern members took it smack on the chin Tuesday from their California Coast League colleagues as San Diego hung an 11 to 0 shutout on Seattle while last place Sacramento clipped the Beavers by a humiliate 5 to 0 margin.

In Seattle it was a home-town boy who gave the Rainiers their lacing. He was Chet Johnson, former University of Washington and Tacoma Tiger hurler who put on a seven-hit performance while his mates beat out 15 hits. Seattle's troubles started in the second inning when Pete Jonas hit an uncontrollable streak of wildness, letting in three runs on two singles. The Padres found relief Chuckler Glenn Elliott to their liking as well, adding two runs in the fourth and three each in the sixth and ninth.

Sacramento looked anything but a tail-ender in taking Portland apart. The Beavers started out with Ad Liska and finished up with Marino Pieretti and Bill Herrin, whose combined efforts allowed the Solons 13 hits. Al Brazle held the Beavers to four bingles in turning in his shutout.

The league-leading Los Angeles Angels disposed of Oakland 9 to 6 in a twilight tussle, with each team using three pitchers. Don Osborne was credited with the win and Vince Dibiasi charged with the loss.

Bernie Uhalt, one-time Hollywood performer traded to San Francisco in a controversial deal this season, led the Seals in a 6 to 4 triumph over the Stars. Uhalt's second-inning double started the Seals off on a three-run rally which gave them a lead they never relinquished.

LIKE thoroughbreds, your C.C.M. Bicycle deserves the very best care.

After all, it is your faithful steed which takes you wherever you wish to go. Should it break down, through neglect, you might be delayed in getting repair parts and—as to a new C.C.M. bicycle—they're scarce—so scarce, in fact, that voluntary bicycle rationing has been put in effect by the industry in co-operation with the Wartime Prices and Trade Board—see your bicycle dealer for details.

Bicycle Purchase Application form may be filled in at any Bicycle Dealer's store.

Your bicycle will last longer and give easier pedalling and greater riding comfort and pleasure if you will "service" it in the following manner:

1. Keep the front hub bearings properly adjusted so that the wheel will revolve freely. Oil frequently with machine oil.
2. Oil the pedals frequently.
3. Keep the brake cleaned, lubricated and adjusted so it will function quickly and smoothly. This should be done by your bicycle dealer.
4. Oil and keep freely adjusted your steering column.
5. Use special chain lubricant to keep this mass of moving parts in easy-running form.
6. Oil frequently the main hanger, to which the pedal cranks are attached, as this is the power plant of the bicycle.
7. Always keep your tires inflated hard. Avoid wheel skidding, and hitting curbs and stones. Check wheel alignment frequently to save tire wear.
8. The above servicing can be done best by your experienced C.C.M. dealer who has the proper lubricants and tools for the job.

SERVICE PARTS FOR YOUR C.C.M.

In order that C.C.M. bicycles may be kept in good repair, C.C.M. are maintaining the best possible service on genuine C.C.M. parts and safety accessories by apportioning their available stocks to the 2,300 C.C.M. dealers across Canada. Every dealer gets his full quote in proportion to the parts available.

Rented Garage But Cannot Enter It

When a house is rented with a garage, the tenant should have access to the garage, Judge H. H. Shandley indicated in rent court today as he tabled for an investigation a claim for a cut in charges.

The tenant stated he had agreed to rent the accommodation for $35 a month with the garage. He found later the city would not let him drive over the boulevard to put his car away. Deprived of garage service, he asked a rental reduction.

An investigation was also ordered on another property divided into two suites with the lower one including a sublet room. Tenant of the lower, who pays $30 a month as well as providing light and water service for the entire house, asked for the reduction on the grounds the upper suite rented for only $18.50. He said he had sublet one of his own rooms for $15 a month to a woman with four children.

Cobble Hill Gets High School Area

A new high school area has been created at Cobble Hill, Council of Public Instruction announced today. It will comprise the five school districts of Bench, Cobble Hill, Mill Bay, Shawanigan Lake and Sylvania. The high school board will consist of five members, one from each district. New arrangement culminates some years of effort by people of the five settlements. Meetings held recently resulted in unanimous votes in favor of the area at Mill Bay, Shawanigan Lake and Sylvania; 24 out of 26 in favor at Bench and only one ratepayer at Cobble Hill opposed to the plan.

At the latter place a high school has been maintained for several years and pupils from the other districts have had to pay tuition fees while their parents have had no voice in the appointment of teachers or management of the school. The new set-up will remedy that condition.

Cobble Hill ratepayers agreed to turn over the high school to the area at a price to be fixed by one representative from that district, another from the area and a third to be appointed by the Department of Education.

Building permit to demolish an old brick building and to move a house owned by the United Church at 930 Balmoral Road was issued Tuesday by the city building inspector's office. Value of the permit was $500.

BRIGHT SCHOOL PAPER

Filled with interesting glimpses of personalities and events during the past school year, the Inkspot, annual publication of the Sidney Schools, is now off the press. The 12-page magazine, illustrated with class photos, skits and drawings, and brightened with jokes and original verse and prose compositions, reflects, in its Red Cross, War Savings and cadet news, a keen realization of the war. Material for the book was furnished by pupil representatives in the various classes.

Victoria Symphony Shows Confidence In Final Concert

Music-lovers of Victoria were quick to sense the newly-won confidence of the Victoria Symphony at the final concert of the season in Empress Hotel Tuesday night.

The veriest laymen could feel the assurance that comes from thorough knowledge of the score, long hours of individual practice and conscientious ensemble playing. The orchestra, for the first time really, steeled itself under Melvin Knudsen's conducting, and gave a performance that was well integrated, substantial and not "spotty."

The severe contrast between the somewhat obvious "Pomp and Circumstance," military march (Elgar), and the subtle strains and shading of the "Dreams From Tristan and Isolde" (Wagner) piqued the interest of the audience at the start of the program.

The charming little study for strings, Haydn's "Serenade," Opus 3, No. 5, pleased those who preferred the fine quality of the latter, and led into Brahms' "Variations on a Theme by Haydn."

Brahms, who was termed both the Messiah of Music and the true successor to Beethoven, by Wagner, the critic, weaved his variations from a simple melody, elaborating it with cleverly-designed figurations which were accented by woodwinds against a background that grew almost organ-like in some places.

Rossini, composer of the overture, "The Thieving Magpie," abandoned his successful musical career for the more mundane art of the cuisine, thereby becoming one of the greatest of Italian gourmets. A favorite pastime of this voracious musician was this riddle: Why is the turkey such a disappointing bird? Because its too big for one and not big enough for two.

The composition in question has much humor in it, and last night it left the audience in a receptive mood for the brief but delightful Jarepelled "Praeludium" which followed.

Many of the themes in the "Sigurd Jorsalfar Suite" carry the peculiar Scandinavian mysticism characteristic of Grieg, the Triumphal March of Homage, particularly exemplifying this Viking spirit.

Samuel Coleridge Taylor's "Deep River" gave excellent opportunity for display work for the cor anglais and the violin, particularly in the legato passages of this pleasing arrangement.

In the final number, the overture to the "Gypsy Baron," by Strauss, the orchestra was especially well-controlled, a pulsating rhythm being maintained even underneath the solo work, in which the clarinet and oboe alterned in brilliant contrast against the strings.

Those citizens who have supported the work of the Symphony Society, including the committee of which Miss Sara Spencer is president, may feel assured that they have helped in creating an organization for cultural expression that will voice the spirit of Canada in the world of music.

Chaplin, Oona O'Neill Get Marriage License

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Charles Chaplin, motion picture comedian-producer, and Oona O'Neill, daughter of playwright Eugene O'Neill, obtained a marriage license here today.

Deputy County Clerk Ira Alt-schul said he had issued the license at 8.40 a.m. and that Chaplin and Miss O'Neill left the courthouse a few minutes later without announcing their marriage plans.

Chaplin gave his age as 34. Miss O'Neill said she was 18. Miss O'Neill, prominent New York debutante of 1942, recently was given a screen role, and friends of the couple said Chaplin had been coaching her in dramatics.

Their appearance at the marriage license bureau here followed by less than a week the stipulation of a suit brought against Chaplin in which Mrs. Gertrude E. Barry of New York charges he is the father of the child expected by her 23-year-old daughter, Joan Barry, also an aspirant to a screen career.

Red Cross to Take Angus Campbell Store

In the meantime the City Red Cross unit has established temporary quarters at 1011 Langley Street, which will be open daily, except Saturdays, from 9.30 till noon. Junior Red Cross headquarters are temporarily at 602 Broughton Street.

Died Tuesday

A native daughter of Victoria and an ardent worker in several church and fraternal organizations passed Tuesday, in the person of Mrs. Edna Victoria Stansby, who died at 1704 Bay Street, was 43 years of age.

Born in Victoria and residing here most of her life, she was past grand master and at the time of her death was grand secretary of the Ancient Order of United Workmen. She was also a worker of St. Alban's Church and a member of St. Mary's W.A.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Sylvia and Daphne, at home; her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Wigglesworth, of Victoria; one brother, Charles Jackman Wigglesworth, of Victoria, and one sister, Mrs. R. D. Gregor, of Prince George.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 3.15 p.m. at St. Alban's Church, the cortege leaving Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 3 p.m. Rev. F. Comley will conduct the ceremony.

Robert House Gets 'All-Girl Review'

Highlight event of the season for servicemen stationed in and near Victoria will be the "All Girl Review" to be presented at Prince Robert House Thursday evening, under direction of Miss Bonnie Ward, well-known Victoria producer.

One of the show's stars will be Mrs. Kathleen Greene, character comedienne, mother of the Hollywood actor, Richard Greene, who is now serving with the British forces.

Harold Ker will be versatile master of ceremonies and contributing to the program will be all Victoria entertainers. Chairman of Prince Robert House, Jules Prudhomme, and general manager, Charles Gray, have expressed their appreciation for the voluntary support received from Victoria entertainers, which has enabled them to offer many shows for men of the services.

Quake Recorded

An earthquake, described as of moderate intensity, was recorded on the seismograph of the Dominion Observatory today.

The tremor began at 11.30 Tuesday morning and continued for an hour and a half.

Dr. K. O. Wright, seismograph assistant, said the epicentre was estimated to be about 2,850 miles distant, in a direction not yet definitely worked out.

Reports from observatories at Santa Clara and Pasadena conflicted in their placing of the direction from which the quake emanated, one stating it was from a southerly direction, the other stating it was from the northwest and indicated that it might be tied up with recent disturbances on the volcano of Kiska in the Aleutians, reported recently.

However, in Dr. Wright's opinion this was not probable. He said, "If it were from the Aleutians we would have felt it more here."

A.R.P. Activities

Esquimalt—Reeve Lockley, chairman civilian protection committee, Esquimalt area, will present first aid, home nursing and gas certificates at a meeting to be held in Lampson Street School tonight at 8.

Mr. Edwardson, St. John's Ambulance Brigade, will show interesting A.R.P. moving pictures, and Lt. General Ashton will give a short lecture.

Boy Copas pleaded guilty in city court Tuesday of being the keeper of a gaming house at 1315 Government. He was fined $50 and a slot machine was confiscated.

Saanich Trustees To Discuss Dispute

Martin Neilson, chairman of the Saanich School Board, indicated today he would vote in favor of accepting the resignations of Trustees J. R. L. Burridge and F. Tupman at the meeting tonight, while Mrs. F. Paterson and Mrs. E. B. Bryce said they could not announce their intentions because they had not made up their minds.

Both the chairman and trustees said they did not care to discuss the matter until the meeting tonight. Statements will be presented by the trustees individually and by the board as a whole.

The three remaining trustees this afternoon met with Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Minister of Education, to discuss questions regarding the resignations of the two trustees.

"As I see it, if two people wish to resign, I'm in favor of accepting their resignations. I'd like to see two other members who are willing to work with the board," said Mr. Neilson.

He said "a statement of facts" would be made tonight, but neither the name of the school nor the persons involved in the controversy would be mentioned.

Mr. Neilson said he had no objection to making public Mr. Burridge's report to the board, but he suggested that move would have to be made by Mr. Burridge.

Blackouts Help In Music Study

The war has been responsible for greater study of music by British children than any other factor, states Dr. Frederic J. Staton, of the Associated Board of the Royal Schools of Music and a well-known adjudicator at former musical festivals in Victoria.

Outstanding reason given by Dr. Staton for this is the fact that the children of the United Kingdom are forced to remain at home by blackouts and consequently they have more time to study.

All records were broken at the Royal Academy this year in the number of examination entries.

Dr. Staton says there is a great future for music after the war.

People will then have more leisure to enjoy good music, he says.

Dr. Staton has traveled a great deal since the beginning of the war, having visited 24 countries. When hostilities started he was in New Zealand and since then he has visited India twice, Ceylon, Africa, Trinidad, Australia, the West Indies and Canada three times in the course of his duties examining music students.

In Britain, he said, traveling concert parties are very popular and famous symphony orchestras play in all sorts of queer places to crowds of people.

Junior High School Issues Smart Paper

Resplendent in a bright red cover the final issue for the term of the Centraillon, published by Central Junior High School, is now off the press.

The magazine, which is edited by a staff of 15 students and a staff adviser, is a comprehensive resume of the year's activities at Central Junior High.

Opening with a farewell message from the principal, Arthur T. Hunkin, it continues with a message from the editor-in-chief, Grant Bracewell, and reports on the various activities carried on during the year. These illustrate the way in which the scope of student activities has widened to support the war effort, for included are reports on salvage campaigns, Red Cross, school savings, and cadet training.

Surveys of the year's activities in the various classes, sketches of personalities, and sports write-ups are included, and there are special sections for activities such as library, literary efforts and jokes.

Jan Pearce Coming In Hilker Series

Jan Pearce, spectacular tenor of Metropolitan Opera, will appear next season as one of the highlights of the Hilker Attractions Greater Artists Series, 1943-44 season.

Extensive radio and operatic commitments made it difficult to bring Mr. Pearce so far west—it was only possible through the co-operation of Fred Gee of Winnipeg, with whom these first western Canada dates have been jointly arranged. Many tenor voices have been compared to the golden quality of Caruso, but only the top three or four of the last 50 years have that "spine-tlingling" quality which Jan Pearce can boast.

The unusual thing about Mr. Pearce's career is that he did not begin to sing until 1933. A New Yorker by birth, he began playing the violin at the age of nine, and when 15 was making public appearances, but being endowed with a naturally beautiful voice, it was not long before he became the leading tenor of the largest theatre in the world, the Radio City Music Hall. Since that time, Mr. Pearce has become leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Association.

Other artists appearing on the Hilker Attractions Series are: Yehudi Menuhin, world-renowned violinist; the Ballet Theatre, company of 125 with symphony orchestra; Salvatore Baccaloni and his opera company in "The Barber of Seville," complete with costumes, properties and scenery; Marjorie Lawrence, prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera; Thomas L. Thomas, renowned young Welsh baritone; and Arthur Rubinstein, famed Polish pianist.

Scholarships Awarded

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Prof. H. E. Jenkin, head of the department of romance languages at the University of Western Ontario, has announced the names of winners of French language scholarships awarded by the Carnegie Corporation.

The winners include Miss Norma Ericson, Aldergrove, B.C., and Miss Helge Jarvi, Vancouver, both of the University of British Columbia.

Ratepayers Demand Vote On Saanich Ward Abolition

A plebiscite next fall to determine whether Saanich should or should not abolish the ward system was asked Tuesday night by a delegation from the Saanich Ratepayers' Association at the municipal council meeting.

The council, with Councillor George Austin in the chair in the absence of Reeve E. C. Warren, took no action on the question although opposition opinion among other ward councillors was apparent.

A. Douglas, president, said the ratepayers' association had considered municipal problems from many angles and had discussed four plans to adjust the administration, abolition of the ward system being considered the most practicable.

He said waste in municipal administration under the present set-up was apparent, and "waste in times like these is not excusable." Referring to the works department, he said, more, better and cheaper work could be done under a civic engineer and gang rather than under the present system of ward foremen and workers.

Mrs. F. Paterson, representing Cloverdale ratepayers, said rural areas, with the abolition of the wards, would receive adequate representation. She referred to the school board.

"We're so convinced this must be done that falling action by the council, we will petition the citizens," said Mr. Douglas. He said this was not a threat for the association wished to work in co-operation with the council.

Councillor L. Hagan said he was opposed to ward abolition. "We feel wards seven and two could then elect the whole council," he said.

"It's obvious they know so little about municipal procedure they don't know what their talking about," said Councillor Austin in reference to discussion of road administration.

F. Willmore charged Saanich was using some of the same methods as introduced 50 years ago.

Councillor K. W. Richmond said: "I'm representing in some cases five times as many people as other councillors here. I don't think you should have one person representing 1,000 citizens and another representing 5,000."

He said some parts of Saanich were as urbanized as Victoria but were being administered under rural organization.

Councillor G. A. Rudd said he had concluded his share was getting its share. He urged the council to carry on, and to show more co-operation.

TO CONTROL TENTS

Fearing more tents may be erected in Saanich as living accommodation because of the housing shortage, the council ordered a by-law prepared to require permits for erection of tents in all Saanich.

At present tent erection is controlled in wards one, two and seven only. The proposed by-law would extend control over the other wards. Fire and sanitation hazards were the reasons given for the new law.

Sewage disposal problems continue to confront the council, a new complaint from E. Birt of sewer water draining on to his property at 1913 Duchess having been received. Mr. Birt said his property was so saturated with sewer water it was impossible to have a bulldozer work on his land. The complaint was tabled for the present pending a further report by the sanitary inspector.

The problem of alleviating an acute sewer problem on Gorge Road near Harriet was likewise tabled for the present, it being reported that linking drains with the city sewer system would be the most satisfactory means of meeting this "terrible condition."

The city, however, was reported as being unfavorable to this plan. It was suggested a sewer be laid parallel to Harriet, to drain finally into the Gorge.

ASK TREES FOR FUEL

The increasing number of citizen requests to cut for fuel trees on municipal property has led the council to take action to have decisions of questions of this nature dealt with by the works superintendent and the ward councillor. This will probably be authorized at the next council meeting.

Repairs to Saanich streets and sidewalks has almost been brought to a standstill because of a lack of tar, the council told C. D. Atkinson who requested the Carey Road sidewalk be repaired.

Councillor Richmond said eight blocks of roadway in his ward had been torn up but the municipality had no oil to put a surface on the streets. A small amount of oil described as being as valuable for road work as water, has been secured and is being used for patching streets.

Raising of the age limit was considered as a solution to the problem of filling two vacancies in the Saanich fire department. The question was left with Councillor Austin and the fire chief. The resignation of H. Greenwood was accepted.

ASK POUND REFUND

Request for rebate of $1750 pound fees charged after cattle broke through a fence allegedly cut by a school principal was referred to the police chief. R. Strong was the complainant.

A letter of thanks for improvement of the road in front of St. Mark's vicarage was received and filed.

Councillor Rudd urged more publicity on the question of sugar allotments for canning and beverages. Esquimalt council has endorsed the Saanich resolution of protest.

Sale of three lots near Grange Road for a total of $120 cash was approved.

Mrs. Ethel M. McIndoe was refused permission to erect a temporary dwelling on Mayfair Drive. Her request was forwarded to the zoning board.

The council endorsed plans to exchange 2,000 B.C. bonds for 2,000 Saanich bonds now held by A. E. Ames & Co.

DOMINION THEATRE

Among other spectacular scenes in "Ravage Earth" the audiences at the Dominion Theatre see the greatest fire in the history of the world when the great fire sweeps the major part of Shanghai and consumes property to the value of $800,000,000.

Pioneer Yachtsman, W. E. Adams, Passes; Was Native Victorian

Walter Edward Adams, 2451 Beresford Avenue, a native son of Victoria and for many years a prominent yachtsman, died early today at the Jubilee Hospital following a lengthy illness. Mr. Adams had been in failing health in recent years.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 at the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home, followed by cremation. It is requested no flowers be sent.

Born here in 1877 Mr. Adams was widely known throughout the city and district, having spent practically his whole life here. He was educated at the original Boys' Central School, under the late Dr. E. B. Paul, later attending university in California.

As a young man he was keenly interested in athletics and he retained this interest throughout his latter years. He was an active member of the James Bay Athletic Association when that organization was in its infancy and established a name for himself as an oarsman. His interest in boats and boating continued as he grew older and as a young married man he took an active part in yachting.

He joined the Royal Victoria Yacht Club soon after it was formed and was honored by that organization a few years ago when he was made an honorary life member. During his association with it he held various executive positions from commodore down. He also held an executive position with the Pacific International Yachting Association.

His yawl, the Truant, was a familiar contestant in all major yachting events of the Pacific Northwest and with it he won outright the Cowichan Cup. He was also a winner of the Lipton Trophy on more than one occasion.

Later, after giving up the active life of yachting, his sporting interests turned to archery and he was one of the original members of the local Archery Association in which he held the office of secretary.

For many years Mr. Adams was associated with his father in the ship chandlery business of E. B. Marvin & Co., which was closely connected with the early development of Victoria when the sealing industry flourished here. This business he carried on for many years after his father's death.

Surviving are Mrs. Adams, at the family residence; three sons, Cmdr. Kenneth F. Adams, R.C.N. of Halifax; Lt. Cmdr. F. Clifford Adams, R.C.N.V.R., Victoria, and Sub. Lieut. Donald M. Adams, Vancouver; two daughters, Mrs. Edward F. Fox, Victoria, and Mrs. H. E. Robertson, Calgary; one brother, Ernest G. Adams, Tacoma; two sisters, Miss Isla Adams, Victoria, and Mrs. Robert Eadie, Montreal, and eight granddaughters.

Monty Woolley Stars at York

Imagine Bette Davis, Ann Sheridan, four penguins, the only bearded star in Hollywood, a mummy case, the biggest nose in movies, an octopus and a giant tree piled high with Christmas gifts and you'll have some idea of the goings on in the picture called "The Man Who Came To Dinner," which ran as a play for two years on Broadway and the road. The Warner Bros. film version opens tomorrow at the York.

Monty Woolley, of the New York production, is the bearded star, and it is he who creates the havoc in a perfectly blissful family, when, invited to dinner, he slips on an icy porch and breaks his hip.

Confined to his chair, Monty makes his stay to dinner something to be remembered.

'Random Harvest' On Atlas Screen

Teamed for the first time, Ronald Colman and Greer Garson come today to the Atlas Theatre in "Random Harvest," haunting romance based on the best-selling novel by James Hilton. Each has starred in a Hilton story that was outstanding: Colman in "Lost Horizon," Miss Garson in "Good-bye, Mr. Chips."

Mervyn LeRoy, who directed "Blossoms in the Dust," directed, and Sidney Franklin, who produced "Mrs. Miniver," produced. Among the featured players are Susan Peters, Phillip Dorn, Reginald Owen and Una O'Connor.

By general agreement, the quillings that first came to light in Norway are the most deplorable men the world has known since Judas Iscariot or Pontius Pilate. In 20th Century-Fox's picturization of John Steinbeck's outstanding novel "The Moon Is Down," which is currently at the Capitol Theatre, E. J. Ballantine, in the role of the infamous quill, creates a new and hateful kind of screen villain.

There is little doubt that Ballantine, thanks to his skillful portrayal of the turn-coat, will earn for himself the title of the most hated man of the year. The role of the brutally efficient Nazi commander, played by Sir Cedric Hardwicke, is pale when compared to the quilling character.

PLAZA-OAK BAY THEATRES

Kay Walsh, who made so successful a debut as leading lady opposite George Formby in "Keep Fit" at Plaza and Oak Bay Theatres, has been signed by Basil Dean to play the corresponding role in the next Formby picture to be filmed at the A.T.P. Ealing studios.

CADET THEATRE

The greatest mass drama of modern times, the evacuation of a great European capital and the flight of the civilian refugees ahead of the invading armies is re-created in Universal's powerful "Paris Calling," which is now at the Cadet Theatre.

RIO THEATRE

Sammy Kaye and his band swing out song hits as the screen's newest singing find, lovely Joan Merrill, extends a vocal welcome to the U.S. Marines as they arrive in Iceland, in 20th Century-Fox's latest screen musical triumph, "Iceland," which is now being shown at the Rio Theatre. The picture stars Sonja Henie, and John Payne, who plays a heart-breaking corporal of Marines.

Jan Peerce Coming In Hilker Series

Jan Peerce, spectacular tenor of Metropolitan Opera, will appear next season as one of the highlights of the Hilker Attractions Greater Artists Series, 1943-44 season.

Extensive radio and operatic commitments made it difficult to bring Mr. Peerce so far west—it was only possible through the co-operation of Fred Gee of Winnipeg, with whom these first western Canada dates have been jointly arranged. Many tenor voices have been compared to the golden quality of Caruso, but only the top three or four of the last 50 years have that "spine-tingling" quality which Jan Peerce can boast.

The unusual thing about Mr. Peerce's career is that he did not begin to sing until 1933. A New Yorker by birth, he began playing the violin at the age of nine, and when 15 was making public appearances, but being endowed with a naturally beautiful voice. It was not long before he became the leading tenor of the largest theatre in the world, the Radio City Music Hall. Since that time, Mr. Peerce has become leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Association.

Other artists appearing on the Hilker Attractions Series are: Yehudi Menuhin, world-renowned violinist; the Ballet Theatre, company of 125 with symphony orchestra; Salvatore Baccaloni and his opera company in "The Barber of Seville," complete with costumes, properties and scenery; Marjorie Lawrence, prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera; Thomas L. Thomas, renowned young Welsh baritone; and Arthur Rubinstein, famed Polish pianist.

Scholarships Awarded

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Prof. H. E. Jenkin, head of the department of romance languages at the University of Western Ontario, has announced the names of winners of French language scholarships awarded by the Carnegie Corporation. The winners include Miss Norma Ericson, Aldergrove, B.C., and Miss Helge Jarvi, Vancouver, both of the University of British Columbia.

TO CONTROL TENTS

Fearing more tents may be erected in Saanich as living accommodation because of the housing shortage, the council

Ratepayers Demand Vote On Saanich Ward Abolition

A plebiscite next fall to determine whether Saanich should or should not abolish the ward system was asked Tuesday night by a delegation from the Saanich Ratepayers' Association at the municipal council meeting.

The council, with Councillor George Austin in the chair in the absence of Reeve E. C. Warren, took no action on the question although opposition opinion among outer ward councillors was apparent.

A. Douglas, president, said the ratepayers' association had considered municipal problems from many angles and had discussed four plans to adjust the administration, abolition of the ward system being considered the most practicable.

He said waste in municipal administration under the present set-up was apparent, and "waste in times like these is not excusable." Referring to the works department, he said, more, better and cheaper work could be done under a civic engineer and gang rather than under the present system of ward foremen and workers.

Mrs. F. Patterson, representing Cloverdale ratepayers, said rural areas, with the abolition of the wards, would receive adequate representation. She referred to the school board.

MAY PETITION

"We're so convinced this must be done that failing action by the council, we will petition the citizens," said Mr. Douglas. He said this was not a threat for the association wished to work in co-operation with the council.

Councillor L. Hagan said he was opposed to ward abolition. "We feel wards seven and two could then elect the whole council," he said.

"It's obvious they know so little about municipal procedure they don't know what their talking about," said Councillor Austin in reference to discussion of road administration.

F. Willmore charged Saanich was using some of the same methods as introduced 50 years ago.

Councillor K. W. Richmond said: "I'm representing in some cases five times as many people as other councillors here. I don't think you should have one person representing 1,000 citizens and another representing 5,000."

He said some parts of Saanich were as urbanized as Victoria but were being administered under rural organization.

Councillor G. A. Rudd said he had concluded his ward was getting its share. He urged the council to carry on, and to show more co-operation.

DOMINION THEATRE

Among other spectacular scenes in "Ravaged Earth" the audiences at the Dominion Theatre see the greatest fire in the history of the world when the great fire sweeps the major part of Shanghai and consumes property to the value of $800,000,000.

Pioneer Yachtsman, W. E. Adams, Passes; Was Native Victorian

ordered a by-law prepared to require permits for erection of tents in all Saanich. At present tent erection is controlled in wards one, two and seven only. The proposed by-law would extend control over the other wards. Fire and sanitation hazards were the reasons given for the new law.

Sewage disposal problems continue to confront the council, a new complaint from E. Birt of sewer water draining on to his property at 1913 Duchess having been received. Mr. Birt said his property was so saturated with sewer water it was impossible to have a bulldozer work on his land. The complaint was tabled for the present pending a further report by the sanitary inspector.

The problem of alleviating an acute sewer problem on Gorge Road near Harriet was likewise tabled for the present, it being reported that linking drains with the city sewer system would be the most satisfactory means of meeting this "terrible condition."

The city, however, was reported as being unfavorable to this plan. It was suggested a sewer be laid parallel to Harriet, to drain finally into the Gorge.

ASK TREES FOR FUEL

The increasing number of citizen requests to cut for fuel trees on municipal property has led the council to take action to have decisions of questions of this nature dealt with by the works superintendent and the ward councillor. This will probably be authorized at the next council meeting.

Repair work on Saanich streets and sidewalks has almost been brought to a standstill because of a lack of tar, the council told C. D. Atkinson who requested the Carey Road sidewalk be repaired.

Councillor Richmond said eight blocks of roadway in his ward had been torn up but the municipality had no oil to put a surface on the streets. A small amount of oil, described as being as valuable for road work as water, has been secured and is being used for patching streets.

Raising of the age limit was considered as a solution to the problem of filling two vacancies in the Saanich fire department. The question was left with Councillor Austin and the fire chief. The resignation of H. Greenwood was accepted.

ASK FOUND-REFUND

Request for rebate of $17.50 pound fees charged after cattle broke through a fence allegedly cut by a school principal was referred to the police chief. R. Strong was the complainant.

A letter of thanks for improvement of the road in front of St. Mark's vicarage was received and filed.

Councillor Rudd urged more publicity on the question of sugar allotments for canning and beverages. Esquimalt council has endorsed the Saanich resolution of protest.

Sale of three lots near Grange Road for a total of $120 cash was approved.

Mrs. Ethel M. McIndoe was refused permission to erect a temporary dwelling on Mayfair Drive. Her request was forwarded to the zoning board.

The council endorsed plans to exchange 2,000 B.C. bonds for 2,000 Saanich bonds now held by A. E. Ames & Co.

Monty Woolley Stars at York

Imagine Bette Davis, Ann Sheridan, four penguins, the only bearded star in Hollywood, a mummy case, the biggest nose in movies, an octopus and a giant tree piled high with Christmas gifts and you'll have some idea of the goings on in the picture called "The Man Who Came To Dinner," which ran as a play for two years on Broadway and the road. The Warner Bros. film version opens tomorrow at the York.

Monty Woolley, of the New York production, is the bearded star, and it is he who creates the havoc in a perfectly blissful family, when, invited to dinner, he slips on an icy porch and breaks his hip.

Confined to his chair, Monty makes his stay to dinner something to be remembered.

"Random Harvest" On Atlas Screen

Teamed for the first time, Ronald Colman and Greer Garson come today to the Atlas Theatre in "Random Harvest," haunting romance based on the best-selling novel by James Hilton. Each has starred in a Hilton story that was outstanding: Colman in "Lost Horizon," Miss Garson in "Good-bye, Mr. Chips."

CAPITOL THEATRE

By general agreement, the qualings that first came to light in Norway are the most, despicable men the world has known since Judas Iscariot or Pontius Pilate. In 20th Century-Fox's picturization of John Steinbeck's outstanding novel "The Moon Is Down," which is currently at the Capitol Theatre, E. J. Walter E. Adams

Walter Edward Adams, 2451 Beresford Avenue, a native son of Victoria and for many years a prominent yachtsman, died early today at the Jubilee Hospital following a lengthy illness. Mr. Adams had been in failing health in recent years.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 at the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home, followed by cremation. It is requested no flowers be sent.

Born here in 1877 Mr. Adams was widely known throughout the city and district, having spent practically his whole life here. He was educated at the original Boys' Central School, under the late Dr. E. B. Paul, later attending university in California.

As a young man he was keenly interested in athletics and he retained this interest throughout his latter years. He was an active member of the James Bay Athletic Association when that organization was in its infancy and established a name for himself as an oarsman. His interest in boats and boating continued as he grew older and as a young married man he took an active part in yachting.

He joined the Royal Victoria Yacht Club soon after it was formed and was honored by that organization a few years ago when he was made an honorary life member. During his association with it he held various executive positions from commodore down. He also held an executive position with the Pacific International Yachting Association.

His yawl, the "Triton," was a familiar constant in all major yachting events of the Pacific Northwest and with it he won outright the Cowichan Cup. He was also a winner of the Lipton Trophy on more than one occasion.

Latterly, after giving up the active life of yachting, his sporting interests turned to archery and he was one of the original members of the local Archery Association in which he held the office of secretary.

For many years Mr. Adams was associated with his father in the ship chandlery business of E. B. Marvin & Co., which was closely connected with the early development of Victoria when the sealing industry flourished here. This business he carried on for many years after his father's death.

Dorothy Dix:

Dear Miss Dix: During the latter part of last year I had a baby born out of wedlock. Because at the time I was a minor I signed it over for adoption. My mother also had to sign a paper similar to mine. I understand someone has adopted the baby and I want to know if there is any possible chance of my getting him back. I am heartbroken over losing him and it is affecting my health.

At the time I didn't want to give the baby up, but did so to avoid scandalizing the whole family. I did not want to hurt my younger brothers and sisters. I am of age and working now and could support the child. If I regain him, I intend to move out of my home into a place of my own so that he won't harm anyone. What proceedings should I take?

Answer: You will have to consult some good lawyer and have him take the steps necessary to try to recover the child, but I think you will find it very difficult to do it.

If your child has been adopted by reputable people, who are giving him a good home and affection and advantages that you would not be able to give him, consider a long time before you take him away from them. You will find it very hard to make enough money to support yourself and give him the care and food he needs, for babies are expensive propositions and unmarried women with them find many doors of opportunity shut in their faces. Also, you know that an adopted child takes on the status of its foster parents, whereas the child of an unwed mother suffers always from the handicap of being Miss Sally's or Miss Susie's boy and having his birth flung in his face.

Of course, one understands the mother love that makes you willing to sacrifice everything to have your child back with you, and in time people do forget old scandals and many a nameless boy makes a name for himself in the world. However, the woman who defies the conventions pays a high price for her folly.

50 Leave Jobs For Essential Work

To the present time 50 men have been moved to work of a high priority character from less essential industries, under Compulsory Employment Transfer Orders, it was reported by an officer of the National Selective Service and Unemployment Insurance Commission Tuesday.

While stating that this was an extremely favorable figure in comparison with percentages for similar transfers made elsewhere, this official said that at the same time the number reporting under Compulsory Transfer Order No. 2 was not as great as had been anticipated.

Reasons for this might be, he said, voluntary transfers, or enlistments.

However, he strongly urged that both employers and employees make sure that men in the categories affected report to the National Selective Service office by 5 o'clock this evening, as today is the expiry date.

Scores of high school boys and girls are registering with the National Selective Service for work during the summer months. It was reported by an official of the service today.

While the girls are applying for work in retail stores, offices, and a few in factories, the boys are volunteering for anything into which they can be fitted.

Tea Once Cost $40 a Pound in England

It is not known when the first pound of tea traveled from China to Europe, but the event probably took place about 350 years ago.

Thanks to English trading vessels which sailed to the Orient, small amounts of tea were transported to England at an early date. The drink did not become popular there for some time, but doctors told people that it was good for their health.

In 1657 an English merchant opened a "tea house" in London. It was his idea to supply wealthy patrons with a drink which they might like better than coffee. The tea which he bought for his tea house in the opening year cost $40 a pound.

Three years later Samuel Pepys made this note in his diary:

"I did send for a cup of tea, a China drink of which I had never drank before."

Two years passed, and then Pepys made another note: "Home and there I find my wife making of tea, a drink which Mr. Pelling, the Apothecary, tells her is good for her cold."

The price of tea kept going down. In 1660 it was $8 a pound, and in 1700 only $4 a pound.

China at this day drinks half, or almost half of all the tea grown in the world, but Great Britain leads in the amount of tea drunk "per person."

Here is a list which will give a fairly close idea of the chief tea-drinking nations, the weight stated being the amount of tea drunk per person each year:

Great Britain Nine pounds
Elire Eight pounds
New Zealand Eight pounds
Australia Seven pounds
Canada Four pounds
Holland Three pounds
China Two pounds

That list is based on figures published before the outbreak of the present war, and shows peacetime habits. War has changed the picture a great deal. Holland, for example, would be out of the list today, since the Dutch cannot import tea from the Orient, where most of it grows.

The average for the United States before the start of the present war was about three-quarters of a pound per person.

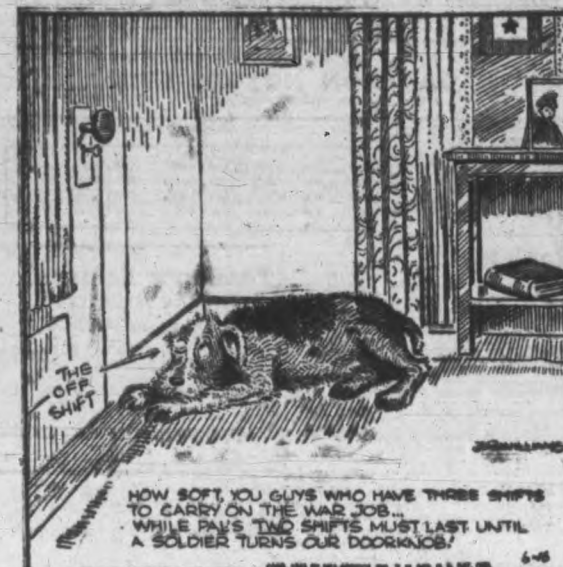

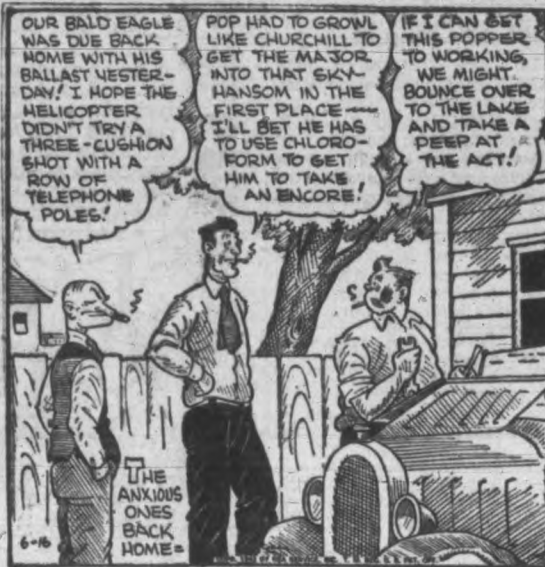

South America has a kind of tea known as "mate" or "Paraguay tea." It is most widely grown and used in Paraguay, but a great deal of it is raised in Brazil. Since the outbreak of the present war, a large amount of Paraguay tea has found its way into the markets of North America.

● The annual wage bill is now twice what it was in 1939. This is partly because of the increase in the amount of employment but also because the average hourly earnings of plant employees (cost of living bonus included) have increased 42.2% since the outbreak of the war.

● Income taxes today are more than 3,000% above 1939. But the company's 3,188 shareholders get the same dividends as at the start of the war.

● This record is typical of Canadian business enterprises engaged in war production.

They'll Do It Every Time

British Labor Rejects Affiliation With Communists

LONDON (CP)—The Labor Party, Britain's second strongest in parliament, today rejected the Communist Party's application for affiliation.

The annual Labor conference turned down the application by a vote of 1,951,000 to 719,000.

Each delegate, allotted for the number of members he represents, after Herbert Morrison, Minister of Home Security, had asked that the affiliation issue should not be mixed up with the government's relationship with the Soviet Union.

The Labor Party, he declared, has consistently sought friendly relations with Russia.

Morrison, who lost his official position in the Labor Party Tuesday when he was defeated for treasurer, was the closing spokesman for the executive committee, which opposed the Communist affiliation application despite the recent dissolution of the Comintern.

BY VIOLENCE

Morrison predicted the Communists still were committed to "revolution by violence" in contrast to the Labor Party's policy of government by persuasion.

He urged the Communist Party to follow the Comintern's example and dissolve.

In the vote of more than two to one against affiliation, the only large bloc of votes for the Communists were the 600,000 of the Mine Workers' Federation.

Morrison said he did not agree with those who said the Communist International had not yet been finally disbanded and would be recreated.

"That may be so, but I do not think so," he said. "Indeed, I think there are strong reasons from the point of view of Stalin, one of the world's greatest men, why he should have taken this step."

The Communist International, Morrison said, had its uses to the Soviet when Russia was boycotted and badly treated by the great capitalist countries, but Russia now was beyond that period and was fully equal to any capitalist world power.

Morrison, who said affiliation with the Communist Party would make the Labor Party "unclean," was loudly cheered.

Earlier, George Ridley, an M.P. and member of the executive committee, had said the only step that could be taken by the Communist Party was to disband.

Ridley was named party chairman and Ellen Wilkinson, also an M.P., vice-chairman.

GREENWOOD FOR LEADER

In the elections Tuesday Arthur Greenwood took a long stride toward the leadership of the Labor Party when he was elected party treasurer by a large majority over Mr. Morrison.

The result means Morrison holds no official position within his own party and, though some quarters view his defeat as a rap on the knuckles for his close support of the government's policy on the Beveridge report, the general view taken is that Greenwood was honored because of his great popularity.

The balloting gave Greenwood, who never before sat on the Labor Party executive, 1,253,000 votes, a majority of 327,000 over Morrison. The only other candidate, Glenville Hall of the Mine Workers' Federation, received 519,000.

Ganges A.R.P.

GANGES—An interesting talk on A.R.P. and first aid work was given at the first aid post last Friday evening, when, under the auspices of St. John Ambulance Brigade, Miss K. Halley, first deputy officer of the first aid post at Point Grey, inspected the post here. Miss Halley made valuable suggestions for more efficient work and described the method of working in her own section, which won the silver cup for efficiency during the recent A.R.P. week in Vancouver. She also spoke of the V.A.D. work done at Shaughnessy Heights Military Hospital. Miss Halley also demonstrated the proper method of fitting gas masks.

WELCOME TO THE WEARY traveller is a Red Cap's cheerful "Carry your bag, sir?" H. B. Fountain has met the trains at Toronto Union Station since 1912, now has a son in the Air Force. "I start work at 6:30, but my breakfast is always on time with Kellogg's Corn Flakes," he says. "Taste mighty good before I go to bed, too." Ready in 30 seconds, easy to digest, Kellogg's are ideal for odd-hour snacks.

KIDS ARE HUNGRY when they come home from school. Give them a heaping bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Ready in 30 seconds, leave no pots and pans to wash... save time, fuel and work. And youngsters love 'em! Besides, there are so many uses for Kellogg's Corn Flakes, make meat go further in hamburger, croquettes and meat loaves. Get some from your grocer tomorrow. Two convenient sizes. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

PERPENDICULAR on the parallel bars is George Creber. Takes a lot of practice to do tricks like this, but George wants to be a gym instructor when he grows up so he's an enthusiast. Gets pretty enthusiastic when you mention Kellogg's Corn Flakes, too. "Boy, that's my dish," he says. "For breakfast or anytime I'm hungry, I just dig into a bowlful." Like George, 4 out of 5 Canadian housewives vote Kellogg's the winner for flavour. Economical, too—saves time, saves fuel, saves work!
